

NOW it is the Swedenborgian church that is agitated over "birth control," in this case apparently favorably. The traditionalists of all creeds who are shocked by such proposals should accept both horns of the dilemma or neither. So long as man did not interfere with death, he did not need to interfere with birth; the matter took care of itself.

But now, by medicine, by sanitation, by personal hygiene, by quarantine, by every possible means, man is interfering with death. If that keeps on it becomes a matter not of morals or religion, but of mathematics, when he must interfere with birth also.

If there are immovable moral or doctrinal objections to interfering with birth, then it becomes not merely logical, but physically and mathematically imperative, to let death take its course, too.

THE Salvation Army worker, returning to San Francisco after a long absence, goes to the Barbary Coast and other former haunts of public vice, and finds "nothing doing." Not that the whole world has turned virtuous but that this particular method of debauchery has gone out.

Doubtless the same report could be given on many former city temptations. The thing that "couldn't be done" is done; the town is, if not completely reformed, at least "cleaned up." New laws, new public sentiment, and new standards of police enforcement have done it. The conditions that we used to take for granted are gone, and if they could be returned only for a day, they would shock even those who used to defend them. Will it not be the same way with prohibition? The thing that could not be done is already done, so far as the open saloon is concerned.

Doubtless it will never be accomplished completely as to secret bootlegging, just as gambling and prostitution have not been completely suppressed. But it will be no longer a common and notorious feature of life. When that stage is reached, prohibition will be an accomplished and accepted fact.

BECAUSE fraud taints all it touches Federal Judge McCormick voided the Elk Hills oil lease. Because congress committed a comma, Federal Judge Kennedy sustained the Teapot Dome lease. Now the supreme court will decide which opinion is the law. If Judge Kennedy is the one sustained Fall and Doherty will proclaim that they are "vindicated."

But vindication is just what no court can confer. The leases may have been legal. They may have been good business. It may have been good for the nation to get the farming out of these developments. But there would be no "vindication" even if these things were established. Even good business, within the law, must not be done that way. And whatever the outcome, these legal and business aspects, it would be a national tragedy if last year's hot indignation on the moral aspects should give way to forgetfulness or indifference.

ONCE more, archaeology digs up history and makes it news. The bones of Peter the Hermit have been found, after resting for nearly a thousand years. Peter was both a fact and a myth. Actually, he and a band of penniless irregulars who called themselves "paupers" took part in the first crusade, in the years just preceding the year 1100. But the legends grew with the centuries, until Peter became the inspirer, as Godfrey was the leader, of a now almost mythical crusade. From the medieval songs to Tasso, he was a hero of the spirit, and one of the few names not born to die. Then came a generation that read newspapers instead of poetry, and forgot him. Now the bones of his bones makes him news, and so brings him back to the only notice the contemporary world knows.

Put his bones back, and let him rest again. Perhaps, some day, there will come another generation that reads poetry, and cares.

Divorces Are On Increase In U. S.; Marriages Fewer

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Divorces are increasing and marriages rapidly decreasing, reports to the department of commerce from nine representative states revealed today.

A matrimonial census showed that, in the year 1924, divorces had generally increased a little more than six per cent, while marriages had decreased about six per cent.

Out of the nine states, Nebraska was the only one to show a decrease in divorces. South Dakota was the only state reporting an increase in marriages for the last year.

Municipal Park Site Available to City

FORD ESTATE OF 22 ACRES TO BE SOLD

No Price Set on Property Until Court Litigation Is Brought to Settlement

HEIRS ARE DISSATISFIED

Widowed Owner Declares She Will Dispose of Land for Best Offer

THE home place of the late George W. Ford on North Ross street, will be available to the city for a city park, if the city wants to acquire the property. The tract consists of 22 acres of walnuts, and extends north from Washington avenue to Seventeenth street.

In appraising the Ford estate, W. B. Williams and Ed Farnsworth, of the First National bank, and J. N. Anderson, inheritance tax appraiser, estimated the value of the property at $105,000.

The informal poll of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce yesterday, indicating that a majority of those present considered a civic center and auditorium on the site of the Frances Willard junior high school on North Main, as the most important civic enterprise of the present, has revived former discussions of the possible acquisition of the Ford property for a city park.

Refused to Set Price

Efforts were made at different times to get the pioneer to set a price on the tract, but he refused to give consideration to such a proposition.

Mrs. William Watkins, widow of Ford, said today that the place would be for sale at conclusion of litigation in which the estate is involved.

Ford died without leaving a will—at least a will never has been found—and Judge R. Y. Williams, of the Orange county superior court, distributed all of the property to Ford's widow, under the community property law. Heirs contested the distribution and have appealed to the state supreme court.

No Price Is Set

"The tract will be for sale when the court action is settled, whether the entire property comes to me or a portion of it is distributed to the contesting heirs," Mrs. Watkins said. "I have not given any consideration to the matter of price, and would not say at this time what figures I would quote. Sentiment as to my home place becoming a city park does not interest me at all—it will be for sale at the best possible price, either to the city for park purposes or to an individual for subdivision."

The home place is virtually the last large tract of close-in land in the city, and it is the opinion of a great many local persons that the city should not miss the opportunity of acquiring it for park purposes.

Property Exchange

Discussions were heard today of possibility of the city exchanging a part of the tract, should it acquire it, for the Frances Willard high school block as a site for a civic center. Location of a new junior high school plant on the Ford property then would follow.

Without committing the board of education, Frank L. Andrews, secretary of the board, said today that he would be very decidedly in favor of the exchange suggested.

"Location of a new junior high school plant on a site of six or seven acres at the corner of Ross street and Washington avenue would be a most desirable move," he said.

LEAVES HIGH SCHOOL

Edward J. Hummel, high school and junior college professor, who has accepted a position as principal of a Beverly Hills grammar school.

HUMMEL TAKES POSITION AT BEVERLY HILLS

Edward J. Hummel, for the last four years instructor in economics and history, and coach of debating teams in the high school, here and teacher of hygiene in the junior college, has resigned his position and at the opening of next school term will assume the position of principal of the grammar school in Beverly Hills, it became known today.

The instructor has tendered his resignation to the board of education and action will be taken by the board at its meeting next Tuesday.

Is Upward Step

The new position will offer Hummel an opportunity to step up in his profession and at the same time increase his salary earnings.

Announcement of the resignation was received today by friends of the instructor with considerable surprise and with regrets, for it means the removal of his family from the city.

Hummel has been active in civic affairs and Mrs. Hazel Landers Hummel has been prominent in musical and social circles. She is director of the choir at the First Christian church, and is one of the most popular vocalists in the city. In addition to her musical ability, she has been prominent in Community Players activities and has taken leading roles in a number of local stage successes. As soprano soloist with the Whittier Men's chorus, of which her husband also is a member, she has concertized throughout the Southland, her vivacity and pleasing personality adding to her popularity.

Attends Summer School

For the last year Hummel has been editor of the Lion Truth, Lions club publication, and he also has resigned this position. He is now attending summer school at the southern branch of the University of California, joining Mrs. Hummel and their children, Dorothy and Bobbie, at their cabin at Mt. Baldy for the week-ends.

World Flyer Is Awarded Medal

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—Capt. Lowell Smith, world flyer, was again honored today for his conquest of the air. The intrepid aviator has been presented with a gold medal by the New York Explorers' club. The award was made here by Dean Harold L. Bruce, of the University of California.

Two Die on Scaffold at San Quentin

(By United Press)
SAN QUENTIN, July 10.—Lewis Perry, 19, and Tom Bailey, 22, were hanged here at 11:02 a. m. today, for the murder of Patrolman Glenn E. Bond, of Los Angeles.

Perry came in first and took the gallows to the right. Bailey followed behind. They were dressed in blue suits.

Both men were pale, with a frozen, enforced calm stamped on their faces.

"Goodbye, Boys"

Perry said "Goodbye boys." At 11 o'clock all was ready and the traps dropped at 11:02. The men were pronounced dead at 11:12 o'clock.

Police Lt. M. S. Carr, who arrested Perry and Bailey after the murder of Patrolman Bond, at Los Angeles, saw them die together on the scaffold.

Ninety-seven spectators witnessed the executions. Two of them fainted.

Among those at San Quentin was Senator Roy Fellom, who has led the fight in the California legislature against capital punishment. Fellom remained outside while the two boys were being hanged.

Writ of Error Pleas Fail

Pleas for writs of error, in a desperate eleven-hour effort to save the lives of the two boys, were denied by the state supreme court at San Francisco just before the executions.

The executions were delayed an hour while these pleas were under consideration.

An ominous, gloomy fog shrouded San Quentin as the eighth and ninth hangings of the year were taking place within the great walled place of death.

ANOTHER HANGED IN FOLSOM PRISON

FOLSOM PENITENTIARY, July 10.—Ed Montijo, 24, accomplice in the murder of Glenn Bond, Los Angeles policeman, was hanged here this afternoon.

The trap was sprung at 1:31. Montijo was declared dead at 1:42. The hour of execution, originally set for 10 a. m., was set back three hours and a half to allow counsel for the condemned boy to make a last-minute attempt to save him from the noose.

MOUNTAINEER DIES IN CHAIR

RICHMOND, Va., July 10.—Rodney Hoke, primitive mountaineer, who claimed he had never had a chance in life, was electrocuted in the Virginia penitentiary today for murder. He was convicted of slaying an unidentified old man whom he found prowling around his moonshine still in the mountains. Hoke was suspected of having killed another man in the mountains a few years ago. He claimed to be only 19, but records indicated he was 27 years old.

54 Indictments Follow Secret Alcohol Probes

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—Six firms and 48 individuals were indicted by the federal grand jury here today for illegal diversion of alcohol. The indictments climax a five months' investigation into bootlegging activities.

Hundreds of thousands of gallons of alcohol, allegedly diverted illegally from government and private warehouses, have been snipped throughout the country, for distribution to re-distillers and bootleggers, according to investigators.

The investigation was made by a "mystery squad" of government operatives, the presence of which in the city was unknown until dry officials until 10 days ago.

Attorney Quits Ellingson Case

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Asserting his belief in Dorothy Ellingson's insanity, Attorney Sylvester J. McAtee today left the staff defending her on the charge of killing her mother.

"I can be of no further use to her. I remember the alienist staff at Napa state hospital turned 'Lonesome Harry' McDonald loose as sane and he killed a woman," McAtee commented, in resigning. The Napa hospital recently found the Ellingson girl sane.

Electric Shock Kills Lineman

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—F. E. Dubay, 43, lineman employed by the bureau of power and light, was knocked 40 feet to the ground by a 2300-volt shock, while repairing power lines here today. Physicians administered adrenalin, but failed to save Dubay's life.

KELLOGG IS SUMMONED IN CHINA CRISIS

Coolidge Calls State Department Head and Under Secretary to Confer

TO DECIDE ON COURSE

Will Determine If U. S. Is To Stand on Demands for Parley of Powers at Once

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, July 10.—President Coolidge has hurriedly summoned Secretary of State Kellogg from St. Paul, Minn., and Under Secretary of State Grew from Washington to the summer White House at Swampscott, Mass., on the serious Chinese situation which has suddenly taken a turn for the worse.

In a week-end conference beginning tomorrow, the president and the state department chiefs will make the critical decision on whether the United States is to stand on its demands for an immediate Chinese conference, or submit to the pressure of Great Britain and other powers for delay.

With anti-foreign sentiment rising rapidly in China, threatening further violent outbreaks, any longer delay by the foreign powers in replying to China's unanswered note demanding treaty revision and apologies for the Shanghai affair, is considered dangerous.

This government is now insisting, through its representatives in Peking, London, Paris and Tokyo, that those powers signatory to resolution No. 5, of the Washington Arms conference, providing for a Chinese conference, to consider Chinese extra-territoriality, make good their promise now by calling such conference.

KELLOGG TO MEET COOLIDGE SATURDAY

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 10.—Secretary of State Kellogg will visit the summer White House tomorrow to confer with the president upon state department affairs, it was announced here today.

Kellogg is the first cabinet member to call upon President Coolidge during his vacation. The president's office here flatly refused to discuss the reason for the secretary's visit, or even to say whether he had been summoned.

It is stated, however, that there was no important crisis in foreign affairs to require his sudden trip from St. Paul.

INTIMIDATE WORKERS TO JOIN IN STRIKE

SHANGHAI, July 10.—Intimidation, abduction and starvation are the newest weapons used here to force workers into joining the general strike.

Many workers are being abducted and carried into Chinese territory, where they are beaten and starved, while wives and children are stolen.

The water company is threatening to cut off water in outlying sections as a measure of retaliation, hoping thus to check the growing activity of men engaged in intimidation.

Man Threatened In $5000 Demand

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—Victim of an attempted extortion plot, D. W. Stroub, retired realtor of Toledo, O., was guarded here today. Stroub received a threatening letter several days ago, demanding $5000. Last night, someone phoned him that, unless the money was forthcoming immediately, he would be killed within 24 hours.

TENNESSEE LAW'S AUTHOR WANTS HIS CHILDREN TO LEARN ABOUT EVOLUTION

(By United Press)
DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.—Representative J. W. Butler, author of the famous Tennessee anti-evolution law, wants his sons to know all about evolution, even if they have to read about it at home.

Butler, who arrived here for the Scopes trial, said in an exclusive interview with the United Press that he, himself, has read Darwin's "Origin of Species" and "Descent of Man," and that they did him no harm.

"I have a son, 19, in the high school, and I want him to read about evolution," he said. "But how will he learn about it, now that teaching of evolution has been banned in the state?" he was asked.

"He can read about it at home," Butler said. "I have the books." "I want him to know for himself how untrue it is," he added. "I am not opposing the teaching of evolution, but I don't think it ought to be taught in state-supported schools."

"If a man wants to put up his own school, let him teach all the evolution he wants," Butler and William Jennings Bryan had their pictures taken today with their hands on a Bible.

YOUTHFUL SCHOOLMASTER ON TRIAL IN TENNESSEE

Above—John T. Scopes, youthful schoolmaster, whose trial for teaching evolution in the high school at Dayton, Tenn., in defiance of the anti-evolution law, opened today. He doesn't like publicity, but is getting plenty of it.

Lower Left—William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state, associated with counsel for the prosecution in his capacity as principal advocate of similar bills to that recently passed by the Tennessee legislature forbidding the teaching of evolution.

Lower Right—Clarence Darrow, famous criminal lawyer, who appears as associate counsel for the defense.

NEW EARTHQUAKE FELT IN MONTANA

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 10.—An earthquake shock lasting about 30 seconds shook the Big Belt mountain district at 7:45 a. m. today.

The shocks apparently centered between White Sulphur Springs and Three Forks, the area which suffered most from the severe quakes which began on the night of June 27.

No serious damage was reported, although the quakes were felt distinctly at Lombard, Manhattan, Logan and in the Gallatin valley, and other points as far north as White Sulphur Springs.

People were momentarily terrorized and hastened from buildings into the open.

PASTOR ASKS BLESSING ON JUDGE, JURY

New Indictment Returned Against Pedagogue Accused of Violating Law

COURTROOM CROWDED

100 Extra Veniremen Are Ordered Rounded Up for Examination by Lawyers

DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.—A jury to try John Thomas Scopes on a charge of violating the Tennessee anti-evolution law, was picked in two hours and a half here at Rhea county court this afternoon.

(By United Press)
DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.—In an atmosphere which combined the elements of a religious revival and a county fair, the Scopes evolution trial swung into its first stage today.

Opened with an exhortation by the Rev. Mr. Courtwright that God might guide the decisions of judge and jury, it reverted shortly after to the semblance of carnival spirit as townsfolk and mere curious mingled in the huge courtroom, while a new grand jury retired for a time to bring in a strictly legal indictment against the high school teacher who started the epic battle.

Then, when this jury of 13 sturdy Tennessee farmers, miners and merchants had returned a new bill, alleging the same criminal offense against Scopes, but drafted in more meticulous legal phraseology, the earnestness with which all approached the trial returned.

Path to Highest Court

John Thomas Scopes, Dayton high school teacher, formally started on the judicial path which will lead from Judge Raulston's court here to the supreme court of the United States. In the end, he will know whether, by teaching evolutionary biology in his classes—considered by the state as a denial of the first chapter of Genesis on the divine origin of man—he committed a crime.

The new indictment was merely a formality, but it served to delay the actual beginning of the legal battle. Judge Raulston felt there might be some doubt as to the strict legality of the first indictment charging Scopes with violating the anti-evolution law of Tennessee, so he ordered a new indictment. It took the new jury an hour to bring the indictment.

Order Poll of Jury

Raulston ordered the jury polled when it had taken its seat, received its report from the foreman, John Rose, retired miner, and then discharged it.

Attorney General Stewart asked that the old indictment be quashed and the judge so ordered it. Then followed formality of registering the new bill, after which Raulston called the Scopes case under its new docket number.

Darrow addressed the court to inquire concerning prosecution plans, saying that he did not want to get defense witnesses here too early.

Discussion ensued between Darrow, Stewart and Raulston as to how long it would take to pick the jury. Darrow said he expected it would take some time, as he desired to get the impartial jury the law assured them.

Asks Opening Statement

Raulston assured Darrow that the defense would receive every consideration, and asked both sides to make some opening statement of plans so that the court could have some idea of the issues to be argued.

At the suggestion of Raulston, counsel for both sides met on the center of the platform to exchange views on the length of time it would take to select the jury.

The upshot of the colloquy was that Raulston ordered the sheriff to round up 100 veniremen and whacked his gavel down, adjourning court at 11:48 until 1:30 p. m. Central Standard time this afternoon, when selection of the trial jury will begin.

The defense was quite satisfied with the new indictment, even though it was more to the interest of the prosecution to have it changed.

"We are glad of it," said John R. Neal, "we didn't want to get up in the supreme court and be thrown out on a technicality."

Judge Opens Court

With the great throng that overflowed the Rhea county courthouse standing with bowed heads and the typewriters and keys of press association operators stilled, Judge Raulston banged his gavel at 9:05 this morning, opening the now famous Scopes case with prayer. Costless and colorless, the people of the countryside, counsel, newspapermen and court attaches thronged about the bench and

SUPERVISORS URGED TO BUY SITE ON BEACH

Resolution that the board of supervisors take immediate steps to purchase a tract of beach property for park purposes was unanimously passed at last night's meeting of the Garden Grove Farm center.

"We feel that it is time for the county to own a strip of land where the public may go and enjoy themselves without having to pay for the privilege," said E. E. Sullivan, president of the center, today.

"Beach land that is suitable for park purposes is rapidly being taken over by private interests and we believe that unless action is taken, that it won't be long before there won't be any land left for the general public."

"Land is cheaper now than it will be 10 years hence and the Garden Grove center members think that the supervisors should start at once to acquire a desirable strip."

The Garden Grove center is one of the largest of the 15 centers in Orange county, having approximately 125 members. It is reported that other centers plan to adopt similar resolutions.

The harbor project and the proposed Century boulevard between Santa Ana and Los Angeles was discussed pro and con at the meeting. Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, who was scheduled to give a talk at the fact, his car had broken down, he would be unable to attend.

A pullet selection demonstration was given by young Archie Clark, a member of the poultry club formed at Garden Grove recently by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

Court Notes

Larceny Trial Set
Pleading not guilty to a charge of grand larceny, W. L. "Red" Nichols, of Santa Ana, was today awaiting trial in the superior court, July 14, at 10 a. m. The date was fixed late yesterday by Judge E. J. Marks, when Nichols entered his plea. Attorney O. A. Jacobs was appointed by the court to defend Nichols, who is accused of stealing a $1000 automobile from Fred Robertson, Santa Ana.

Foreclosure Suit
Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moberly, of Orange, today had filed suit in superior court against Mr. and Mrs. Herman V. Kahrs, to foreclose a $500 mortgage against 22 acres of land near El Modena. Attorney A. E. Koepsel represents the Moberlys.

Dismiss Speeding Charge
A speeding charge against C. C. Becker, of Glendale, whose trial was set for yesterday in Justice Morrison's court, was dismissed when witnesses J. M. Lingens, of Los Angeles, had filed the complaint April 28.

Changes Plea; Pays Fine.
Changing his plea from not guilty to guilty, when he came to trial yesterday in Superior Judge R. V. Williams' court, M. H. Crawford of this city paid a fine of $300 on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Face Trial Saturday.
Accused of the theft of five game cocks from Lester Schroeder, Santa Ana druggist, Lyman Reid and Wendell Stephenson are scheduled to go on trial before Justice K. E. Morrison tomorrow at 9 a. m. in connection with a petit larceny charge. The fowls were alleged to have been stolen June 23.

H. K. Brockett, who paid H. L. Ward only $95 of an agreed $100 for Ward's help on an alleged Brockett farm for a year, must pay the other $505, according to judgment entered late yesterday in Superior Judge R. V. Williams' court.

Ward sued for the $905 he claimed was due him under an oral agreement for his services during the year 1924. At the trial yesterday, the court refused to accept Brockett's version that Ward was working for share of the profit, and there was no profit.

Attorney Carl C. Cowles represented Ward, with Attorney Stanley Reinhaus appearing for Brockett.

La Belle Admits Debt
Judgment for $118.65 was entered late yesterday in Justice K. E. Morrison's court against Joseph La Belle, when he admitted a debt of that amount to S. E. Tingley, who had filed suit against him. A stay of execution for five days was granted, when La Belle stated that he would pay the debt as soon as he could. Tingley is proprietor of the Capistrano Lumber company.

Motorist's Trial Set
The trial of P. L. Madrid, charged with reckless driving, was set for September 1, at 10 a. m., when the motorist pleaded not guilty late yesterday in Justice K. E. Morrison's court. He was released on his own recognizance. Charles W. Denning, Los Angeles, and W. H. James, Santa Ana, are witnesses against Madrid.

Held In Jail
Held to answer to a statutory charge, Florentino Mata was in the county jail today in default of $2500 bail. That amount was fixed by Justice K. E. Morrison at Mata's preliminary hearing late yesterday.

Jury Disagrees.
A jury disagreement in the case of E. N. Erickson, charged with issuing a fictitious check, today left the district attorney's office debating the question of bringing him to trial again, or prosecuting another check charges against him.

Erickson's trial in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court yesterday, July 9, stood 9 to 3 in favor of acquittal, it was said. Attorney O. A. Jacobs defended Erickson, who offered an alibi as proof that he could not have committed the offense charged. It was alleged that he had passed a bogus check for $22.75 to Gifford Farrar, of Placentia.

District Attorney A. P. Nelson stated today that another check charge might be filed against Erickson.

Fruit Dealer Released
P. S. Layton, fruit dealer, was at liberty today upon his good behavior, following his plea of guilty to a charge of offering frosted fruit for sale. When Layton admitted his guilt yesterday, Justice Morrison suspended pronouncement of sentence.

ENTIRE SCHOOL BOARD RESIGNS AT PAULARINO

With the wholesale resignations of the entire school board, the Paularino elementary school district this morning lost its official government.

This was the situation confronting R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, when the mail brought him the resignations of W. J. Lawyer, F. W. Off and Nat Hughes, trustees of the school district.

No reasons for the sudden resignations were contained in the rather brief messages, addressed to the county superintendent, the text of which were limited to announcing the resignation of each trustee.

Efforts to reach the trustees for an explanation were of no avail, they being out of the city. Inquiries at the county superintendent's office failed to throw any light on the matter.

Superintendent Mitchell announced that the resignations have been accepted and that the appointment of new trustees would be announced within a few days.

CAN CHECK PUMPS
Farmers who desire to check up on the efficiency of their pumps may borrow, free of charge, a new rectangular metal weir just completed by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, it is announced.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, July 10.—British attempts to create a world impression that China is in revolt against foreigners in general, rather than against two particular nationalities, are fretting some of the Far Eastern experts in the state department considerably.

Their information is that Chinese hostility is directed almost solely against the British and Japanese, that leaders of the movement have gone out of their way to express friendship for Americans and that they have been surprisingly successful in creating a similar feeling among the ignorant mass of their countrymen, who can't tell white men apart unless they're told.

It naturally isn't to Britain's or Japan's interest to have it appear that they especially are the objects of Chinese hatred.

It not only raises a question as to the reason for such an attitude toward them, and then alone, but might prevent them from securing other "nationalities"—America's mainly—support, if they should decide to adopt strong repressive measures on a large scale.

Japan, her contacts with the western world relatively limited, can't "doctor" Oriental news very effectively, but England, largely in control of its sources, is succeeding extremely well at it.

That there's trouble the British freely admit—even emphasize—but no more for them than for anybody else, according to the dispatches they let get through—dispatches which, in the absence of much other information, are quite generally passed along and repeated here, which is just what the British want.

The worried officials, themselves pretty accurately posted, don't like seeing the public misled. Mistaken publics sometimes make it hard for governments to stick to the policies they think best.

Just now it serves Britain's purpose to present to the Occident a picture of a Bolshevistic-crazy China, in arms against all civilization.

Sometimes it's to her interest to present an ugly picture of the Occident—all but herself—to the Chinese.

For instance, when some rough-neck citizen of any other country than her own kicks a native coolie off a gangplank and he's drowned—quite a common occurrence—

Police News

Released from emergency duty in the quake-stricken zone about Santa Barbara, Motorcycle Officers F. C. Yoder and W. W. Myer of the county traffic squad returned to Santa Ana Friday. They report that conditions are rapidly being brought back to normal in Santa Barbara, with reconstruction work proceeding at full blast.

H. Huber of the Orange County Bakery, 910 East Third street, has reported to city police that a bicycle and a small sum of money were stolen from his place Thursday night. He believes boys were responsible for the thefts.

Mrs. Elizabeth Osgood, 49, of Newport Beach, was booked at the county jail last night on a dual charge, that of being inebriated and of having intoxicating liquor in her possession.

An attempt was made to rob the sporting goods store of A. E. and E. M. Hawley, 305 North Sycamore street, last night. One of the bars on a window at the rear of the premises had been cut through and a second party severed when the ringing of an automatic burglar alarm scared away the would-be thief.

David B. Scott, 70, a carpenter of Santa Ana, was arrested last night on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He will be arraigned this afternoon.

A fine of $25 was imposed on George Miller, Orange, when he appeared before Judge J. F. Talbott on an intoxication count late yesterday. He was committed to the county jail in default of payment.

Two persons were assessed fines of $2 each, yesterday by Judge J. F. Talbott for parking overtime on downtown streets. They were H. D. Viera, of this city; and Mrs. A. R. Merriam of Pasadena.

The British-controlled press all up and down the China coast emphasizes his nationality and his brutality for all it's worth.

But if an Englishman does the same thing, he's a "foreigner"—that's all.

All over the world local native-British newspapers and reviews, and British influence, carry on this work.

In South America it never ceases. There's no out-and-out clumsy misrepresentation, that you can put your finger on, and say, "This isn't so."

Just a dab of color, here and there!—and the thing has the required pro-British and anti-everything else look.

American trade doesn't seem to realize this. If it did, perhaps it would try some of it for itself.

The truth seems to be—judging from little state department leaks—that Ambassador Sheffield, who isn't a Spanish scholar and hadn't been south of the Rio Grande long enough to have seen much for himself, took as the foundation for the story he told Kellogg certain American grievances which do exist and slapped a far weightier superstructure on it than the underpinning justified.

Kellogg took his word for it and there you are.

Sheffield is going back to Mexico, but it wouldn't surprise anybody in Washington if he didn't stay long.

Not all the skidding is done in wet weather. Soft tar on the pavement at Third and Birch streets proved this yesterday. A bicycle, ridden by a high school boy narrowly escaped the junk heap, and its rider the hospital, about noon when a small touring car slipped in the heated tar as it made a turn. The boy was thrown over the curb as he turned to avoid the car, but was unhurt. Old Sol is blamed for the near accident.

WILL RULE SOON ON POWER FIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 10.—With in the next 10 days Secretary of the Interior Work will rule on the controversy over distribution of power from the Hetch Hetchy dam, in Yosemite valley, to San Francisco consumers—an issue which involves the right of a government to lease its properties for private operation.

Because of similarity to the issue in the oil lease cases and the undecided Muscle Shoals question, the controversy has aroused citizens in all sections of the country. The decision is expected to set a permanent policy for the administration.

Ratification of a contract between the city officials of San Francisco and officers of the Pacific Gas and Electric company for distribution of half a billion kilowatt hours of electrical energy daily has been received by the department.

Opponents of the contract charge it is a "grab" by private power interests, while adherents maintain it is a legitimate business transaction for distribution of power only.

Children Injured In Auto Collision

Slight injuries were suffered last night by Paul and Mary Cox, children of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cox, 412 South Orange avenue, Orange, when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a machine driven by W. H. Young, of Coachella, at the corner of Main and Fifteenth streets, Santa Ana. The children were given emergency treatment in the Santa Ana Valley hospital and later taken home.

In his accident report to the police department, Cox declared that the Coachella car cut in ahead of him at the intersection and that he could not stop in time to avoid the crash.

Young, in his statement, explained that he went ahead of the other auto because he was under the impression that he had the right of way.

Noted Pianist Repeats Success of First Musical

For the second time within a week was the Clarence Gustlin home at 618 North Main street, made the center of hospitality when Mr. Gustlin last night greeted a group of appreciative friends in honor of his house-guest, Maurice Zam, prominent pianist of Boston and New York.

Over half a hundred guests responded to the informal invitation and were greeted by the host and Mrs. Ella Campan acting hostess in the absence of Mrs. Gustlin, who is still enjoying Alaskan experiences.

Mr. Zam who has been in Santa Ana for nearly two weeks, came south with Mr. Gustlin after their attendance at the National Music Federation convention in Portland, needed no introduction to the guests, as in his brief visit he has been most generous with his talents and has played upon various occasions both before public gatherings and in private homes.

The perfection of his technique, the breadth, purity and quality of his tone could never be better exemplified than in the impromptu program given last night. Mr. Zam played as the wind blows—seemingly in response to the mood of the moment. His devotion to the classics was shown in his performance of the opening of Beethoven's "Sonata Appassionata" of Beethoven.

A dainty Beethoven Minuet, a Brahms Rhapsody, Schubert Impromptu—all were given place on the program. Most interesting was his response to a request from James Rice to play some of the Schumann-Paganini Caprices, special favorites of Mr. Rice. Scarlatti, Bach, Mozart and Chopin offered proof of his wide knowledge of the masters and second only in point of brilliancy and beauty to the "Appassionata" was his playing of two Scherzos in succession.

The first was one of Mozart's, its light and ethereal quality and simplicity of tone making it seem a slender strand of pearls in comparison with the heavily carved golden chain of a Chopin Scherzo, filled with heavy and intricate harmonies.

After completing his program, the pianist responded to a request to repeat the Ballantine parody on "Mary Had a Little Lamb" which he had given at the first musicale a few evenings ago. The clever use of idioms employed by different classicists in Ballantine's development of the familiar theme, gave delight to the guests who crowded around the artist to express their pleasure in the wonderful musical feast offered them.

The evening ended upon a pleasantly sustained social note with waters and cooling punch served in the dining-room.

Church Society

First Presbyterian
The midsummer meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church was presided over by Mrs. C. H. Baird, president pro tem, on Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. W. W. Anderson as topic leader for the day spoke of the serious illness of Mrs. Sadie Welton and the cabled message sent to Chosen calling Rev. Welton to her bedside. She offered prayer for these missionaries also including army and navy chaplains and Chinese missionaries of the day's calendar.

Mrs. E. B. Stafford in charge of the program, presented Mrs. J. N. Osborn who combined the devotional exercises and a resume of the late Presbyterian.

Mrs. Osborn disclaimed her ability to present a subject as interesting as the one from which she had gleaned copious notes at her Presbyterian and spoke most beautifully on the first chapter of First Corinthians 13-30, showing in many ways the boundless wisdom of God and proving that "man plus God is more than all the wisdom of the world." She related a remark of the late D. L. Moody in regard to the great Sequoia semper virens—California's noted redwood—always alive and growing at heart, comparing it to the spiritual life of the Christian.

Mrs. Osborn then named some of the principal speakers in Presbyterian, giving a brief and entertaining word on their work.

Mrs. Clellan requested every woman to read the first article in the last number of Missionary magazine. At the close of this inspiring talk Mrs. W. C. Vieira ably presented the subject of Orientalism in America and discussed some of its immediate problems.

Mrs. Stafford reviewed the foreign work for the year which taken as a unit is most encouraging. Using her mental radar she "tuned in" on every foreign port bringing messages from the mosques of Persia, from the ebony brothers in the jungles of Africa, from India's coral strand, from Korea and the Philippine islands, telling of the desperate needs of one hundred millions of non-Christian people.

Mrs. E. B. Smith reported a meeting at Fullerton, speaking of the work for Mexican boys and of the building of cottages and of improvement in the Mexican families' surroundings. Mrs. R. J. Blee gave some interesting extracts from a letter from Miss Ida Mitchell in which she told of her attendance at the convention held at the great Union Church at Toronto, Canada.

Mrs. L. B. Pearl, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong, gave a beautiful rendition of the musical number "Abide With Me." The Federated Aid meeting was announced for July 17, to be held at the Ministerial Home, Pasadena. The next meeting of the so-

Merry House-party at Our Village Will End Sunday

Once—sad sea waves at Laguna Beach, are sad no longer—they have had no occasion to be so since the arrival last week of a group of lively Santa Ana maids who are enjoying cottage life at "Our Village" under the able chaperonage of Mrs. Robert Lentz and Mrs. C. H. Lurker.

Swimming, dancing, hiking, and all the pleasures which can be devised by a group of lively young people, are helping while away the hours at the seaside. As the hour for dancing in the evening approaches, the party is augmented almost daily by the arrival of numerous swains many of whom, frequently anticipate the dancing hour by such a wide margin that they find themselves in time for a beach supper.

Mrs. Lentz has her two youngest with her, little Miss Marguerite and Master Donald, both of whom are revelling in the merry times.

The young people composing the party are the Misses Dorothy Pease, Nelle Bales, Jean Tandler, Dorothy Gardner, Ruth Langley, Phyllis Mitchell, Ida Griset and Lois Sweet. The party is located at the Blake cottage.

city is scheduled to be at Birch park.

United Presbyterian
The Ladies' Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church met in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. M. M. Tidball presiding.

After the devotional service, led by Mrs. J. L. Porter, the leader for the afternoon, Mrs. W. W. Hoy, announced the subject for study, as "Home Missions," and was assisted by Mrs. R. S. Thompson, who spoke on the subject, "Mormonism, The Menace of Our Nation." Mrs. Hoy talked on the theme "Beginnings of Home Missions in the Pacific Northwest." Mrs. W. P. Read then gave a report of the summer school of missions which was held in the First M. E. church, Los Angeles, June 1 to 5. Mrs. Read was local delegate to the United Presbyterian missionary conference held at Pacific Palisades, June 26 to July 5, and gave a very full and interesting report of that meeting also.

Other members present who had attended this conference gave short reports, among these being Miss Adda Cowan, Mrs. S. H. Finley, Mrs. W. H. McPeak, Mrs. Scott Torrens and Miss Minnie Cowan. Mrs. McPeak, in her report stated that the Old People's Home on the Pacific coast was an assured success, and one would probably be started in the near future. She also announced the good news that the Santa Ana young people took the banner for the largest attendance at the Palisades.

Bridge Is Played by Friendly Group in Jones Home

Mr. and Mrs. William Jones of 804 West Washington street were delightful hosts last night to a group of congenial friends who shared in an evening of bridge. Roses and gladioli were used attractively in adorning the home and formed a colorful background to the three tables employed and the guests seated around them.

Mrs. Mary Jones scored high and received a pretty gift as reward while consolation gift was awarded Mrs. Charles Pitschner, scoring low. The prizes were presented at the refreshment hour when Mrs. Jones served appetizing dainties to her guests who remained seated at the card tables.

Enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pitschner, Mrs. Mary Jones, Mrs. Ida Dunphy, Mrs. P. L. Tope, Mrs. Lita Morton, Miss Jo Tiede, Miss Blanche Tiede, Miss Doris Pitschner, Edwin Jones and George Morton with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

Relief Corps Enjoys Surprise Dish Dinner

Relief Corps members had a happy day yesterday when they were entertained at the J. H. Kerner home near Garden Grove, at an all day meeting with surprise dish dinner at mid-day.

The members took the Pacific Electric to Garden Grove where they were met by the hosts and conveyed to the Kerner home by automobiles. There they found everything arranged for their comfort and entertainment. Dahlias and marigolds used in profusion gave a festive air to the rooms, while the gardens were most attractive with their wealth of fruit and flowers.

In the afternoon after the delicious dinner had been consumed, the Victrola was pressed into service and all joined in dancing the Virginia Reel, Blackberries, plums and other fruits of the garden, were enjoyed to the utmost and in a weighing contest which followed, Mrs. Emma Schuler proved to outweigh her companions and was declared prize plume-eater of the day.

Enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Kerner were the corps president, Mrs. Elizabeth Birkhead and Mesdames Estelle Ludwig, Aretta Phillips, Estelle Harper, Polly McCullough, Bertha Egger, Kirkham, Lavina Reed, Jessie Ferguson, Louisa Potts, Helen Crick, Emma Schrader, Martha Crane, Alameda Smith, Alice Yount, Mary Crissman, Cora Parks, Addie Miller, Mary Johnston of Port Dodge, Iowa, Miss Marie Kirkham, Messrs J. F. Crane, John McCullough, George Ralph and Mrs. Kerner's brother, John Hobbs and Mrs. Hobbs of Los Angeles.

Chari-vari Planned As Surprise For Newly-weds

Offering a rousing welcome and a very noisy one, to Garret H. Brader and his bride, the employees of the Raik dairy together with their wives spent Monday evening at the recently established Brader home, 1003 South Bristol street.

It was a typical old-fashioned chari-vari in which the bare automobile horns rose and fell in sonorous waves, to the obligato of laughing congratulations on the part of the self-invited guests. Although taken completely by surprise, the bride and groom were happy to welcome their friends and gave them a hospitable invitation to come into the new home where an evening of music and lively conversation followed.

Mrs. Amber Matthews played a number of piano selections and together with Mrs. Brader, sang a group of duets. At the refreshment hour, ice cream and cake were served the guests who hoped that some of the bachelors of the company would soon follow Mr. Brader's example that they might repeat the merry evening.

Yacht Club Announces Summer Dances

Interest among Santa Ana members of the Newport Harbor Yacht club was aroused today by the announcement that the usual series of informal summer dances would open tomorrow night at the clubhouse and continue every Saturday night during July and August, closing with the big Labor day dance on the first Saturday night in September.

The affairs are always productive of much enjoyment, their chief charm in addition to the friendly get-together of the members, being their marked informality, especially appreciated by the men.

Spurs Balky Mule With Electricity

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., July 10. An ingenious method of getting work out of a mule was recently explained by Louis A. Becht, a farmer of Council Bluffs, who said: "This mule was lazy. I teamed him with three horses and every time I tried to whip him I aroused the horses and only amused the mule. So I rigged up a battery and connected the wires with the mule's harness. When I close the circuit the mule gets a lot of energy, while the horses know nothing about it."

More than $11,000,000 is invested in the country, according to government statistics.

Carnival Is Enjoyed At Opening of New Elite Dance Hall

Color, dash, music, charm, all were blended into an evening of enjoyment last night when the opening by the Dysart orchestra of the new Elite hall was made a memorable occasion for nearly 300 people attracted by the notices and invitations which for the last week or so have called attention to the event.

Arriving guests and patrons found the attractive hall at 316 1-2 East Third street, improved and redecorated until it presented a most attractive and home-like appearance and was, in itself, an invitation to friends to gather together, dance and make merry. That the invitation so implied, was understood and accepted, needed no other proof than the joyousness which characterized the opening evening and the representative people of the city who were numbered among the first night patrons.

The six-piece orchestra surpassed itself in the quality of the musical program. All the latest and most rhythmic numbers were offered in rapid succession and time was perfect. The crowd was a friendly one which entered into the carnival spirit with zest and found in the music a splendid outlet for the gayety and excitement of the occasion. An unusually pretty effect was attained in the principal feature dance of the evening when brightly-colored balloons were distributed together with whistles and snapppers which augmented the musical numbers with not un-musical noise.

Three times during the evening, dancing was enjoyed to the accompaniment of vocal solos by one of the city's favorite young soloists, Robert Bradford, a pupil of Madame Manuella V. Budrow whose voice is winning plaudits every time he appears on a program.

Much interest was aroused when Roy Dysart, one of the promoters of the new venture, announced that a five dollar prize was offered for the best name for the new dance hall. Many suggestions were offered last night and others may submit names all during this week. The winning name will be announced at one of the dances in the near future and the prize award made.

W. C. T. U.

The lesson will be on Parliamentary Rule and Mrs. Sarah Brown of Tustin, county parliamentarian, will conduct a drill. All members are to be present.

Ask Big Drop In Electric Rates

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Reduction in electric rates in San Francisco, calculated to effect a saving of $2,000,000 annually to consumers, has been asked of the state railroad commission here by the city attorney. Supervisor Phil Katz, instigator of the move, asserted light users were being overcharged approximately $5480 daily. More than $35,000,000 in taxes were paid by 74 millionaires in 1923.

Don't Have a Single Fly Or Mosquito In Your Home—Black Flag Kills Them All!

To humans and animals BLACK FLAG is absolutely harmless. But to flies, mosquitoes and roaches it is the deadliest killer ever discovered. These pests breathe it and die. For BLACK FLAG contains a secret vegetable ingredient which strangles them. Not one escapes.

Not a single roach, either, escapes this greatest of all insect killers.

FLAG—powder and liquid. Both are equally effective for all kinds of bugs, with three exceptions—never use any liquid on furs, use the powder to make them mothproof. Always use the powder to kill dog fleas and lice.

You will find many uses for both the powder and liquid—using the liquid to kill flies, mosquitoes and moths and the powder to kill roaches, ants, bedbugs, dog fleas, plant lice and chicken lice.

BLACK FLAG costs less. Powder, 15c up. Liquid, 10c. Liquid, 25c up. Sprayer, 45c. Introductory package containing can of liquid and sprayer for only 65c. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores. Buy BLACK FLAG today.

There are two forms of BLACK FLAG.

JURY DECIDES EL CAPITAN DAM SITE WORTH $600,000 IN SAN DIEGO WATER DISPUTE

El Capitan dam site was valued at $600,000 as the price the city of San Diego must pay for it in the condemnation suit which ended here today. This was the jury's verdict, returned after slightly more than two hours' deliberation yesterday afternoon. The verdict came in at 3:15 p. m., and was received by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams.

CATHOLIC GROUP ANNOUNCES GIFTS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Continuation of the biennial supreme convention of the Catholic Daughters of America until late tomorrow was seen here today by leaders.

Selection of a 1927 convention city is yet to come, with Atlantic City apparently leading, and Oklahoma City, Houston, New Orleans, Chicago and Omaha also bidding.

Approximately $40,000 in gifts by the order was announced, including:

Porto Rico court, C. D. of A., $5000; Catholic Church Extension society, $5000; propagation of the faith, $5000; Catholic American Indian Missions bureau, $5000; scholarships of social service, $5000; scholarships in Maryknoll Mission school, relief of ruined and damaged Santa Barbara Catholic institutions.

Miss Mary C. Duffy, supreme regent, and Miss Katherine Rossey, supreme secretary, were delegated to make a pilgrimage to Rome for the holy year jubilee in August and to present $5000 from the order to Pope Pius XI for welfare and educational work in Europe.

Three Jurors Dissent

Jurors Joe Fowler, George W. Milner and John C. Cordes dissented from the verdict, but only eight votes were required for its adoption. This had been previously agreed. Foreman A. J. Glancy delivered the verdict to Clerk Mel Head, who read it amid hushed silence, which was immediately followed by evidences of intense satisfaction on the defense side of the courtroom.

Defense attorneys wrung the hands of the jurors as they left the box.

The case went to the jury at 10 minutes to 12. The jury was allowed time to return a quick verdict if it was in the mood, but apparently wasn't. Bailiff S. J. Scott finally led the 11 men and women down town to lunch. At 1:10, they returned and resumed deliberations.

Judge Marvin Conkling did not wait for the verdict to come in, but left the duty to one of the Orange county judges, R. Y. Williams. He hurried home to El Centro, saying that a crowded calendar scheduled in his own court tomorrow demanded his attention. He had been away from Imperial valley almost a month, having failed in his signified intention of completing the El Capitan trial before July.

Troubles Are Ignored

Before leaving court, Judge Conkling met the various attorneys for a space of handshaking and farewells. Animosity that appeared on the surface of the trial, particularly the several heated clashes between the court and counsel for the defense, were forgotten and forgiven. The judge laughed with the defense lawyers at their remembrance, saying that he "had been through the mill himself and knew how they felt."

While waiting for the jury to come in, counsel indulged in comment and speculation upon the coming verdict. Both sides appeared confident that the jury's valuation would favor their particular ideas on the subject.

Above $10,000 Excessive

"Any verdict above $10,000 would be excessive," stated T. B. Cosgrove, of counsel for the city of San Diego.

"Yet," said Arthur Wright, another city attorney, any verdict of less than $100,000 would be a victory for the city. We offered that much for El Capitan before going to court."

The La Mesa irrigation district, on the other hand, looked for a valuation somewhere approaching the figures their witnesses gave ranging from $300,000 to $1,000,000.

The court chamber, vacated when the jury retired to deliberate, was immediately occupied by the trial of another case, Judge R. Y. Williams taking the bench.

Girl's Story Wins Mother's Freedom

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Plea of Louise Cassella, University of California sophomore, that her mother sold liquor only occasionally as a means of obtaining money to send her through college, won freedom for Mrs. Cassella after she had been sentenced to six months in jail. Federal Judge Partridge rescinded the sentence and ordered an investigation, meanwhile giving the woman her liberty.

Hobble Skirts Are Revived In Paris

PARIS, July 10.—Hobble skirts are back again, and are being adopted with enthusiasm by martyrs of the "line." Only just covering the knees, this skirt, cut from a piece of cloth scarcely bigger than a handkerchief, has the serious defect of quickly losing its shape.

The tailors are trying to remedy this by making a fold on one side, heavily pressed to be invisible, but affording spring for the wearer's knees when seated.

An example of the skirt was seen in the Rue de la Paix, where it excited much criticism. The wearer moved with short, trotting steps, and advanced a few inches at each. Like the dressmakers' mannequins, these fashion-martyrs require a diet of the strictest kind to maintain their slim appearance and do justice to the scanty skirt and tight tunic.

To Teach Flying In Universities

LONDON, July 10.—Oxford and Cambridge universities are each to have a squadron of airplanes assigned them for the purpose of training undergraduates in the art of flying. The planes also will be used in the technical instruction of the students. If the experiment proves successful the plan of training will be extended to other universities, according to Sir Samuel Hoare, head of the air ministry.

JACKAL KIDNAPS BABE

CALCUTTA, July 10.—A jackal recently entered Kalighat, a crowded suburb of Calcutta, and carried off an Indian baby from a hut. The child was suffering from smallpox.

MICHIGAN ELKS FIRST HERD AT PORTLAND MEET

PORTLAND, Ore., July 10.—Portland dressed itself up today in purple and white to welcome the antlered herd of Elks to the national grand lodge reunion, which formally opens Monday.

However, the city was none too early, for a Jackson, Mich., special train rolled into the city this morning, bringing scores of "Bills." Jackson Elks were the first to set foot on Portland's hospitable soil. But one Jacksonian declared that was nothing, "for Jackson is going to be first in everything."

The threat carried weight when it was learned that Withington Zouaves, crack drill team, was in the Jackson crowd. The team has won first place at every grand lodge session since Chicago's reunion in 1920. Now they plan to add Portland to the cities they have conquered—Chicago, Los Angeles, Atlantic City, Atlanta and Boston. It was while they were returning home from Boston that the team was invited to stage a drill before West Point cadets last year. No other civilian drilling organization has ever been accorded that honor. Special trains bringing the official grand lodge party are due tomorrow, while Sunday and Monday will see fully 40 state delegations arriving.

SANTA MONICA MAN SPARED PAYMENT OF FINE FOR TIME WHEN PLEADS FOR 13 MULES

ORANGE, July 10.—Because thirteen mules, which he owned, required food and water, Santa Monica, aged 55, Santa Monica, escaped a jail fate today.

O'Neal, who was arrested on an intoxication charge by Night Officer E. E. Kirkwood, was allowed to depart to take care of his mules by City Recorder G. W. Ingle, where he appeared this morning.

The mules were brought in to play just after O'Neal had been fined $25 on the liquor charge.

"Judge," the man stammered, "I haven't got the $25 just now."

"Well," replied the court, "I guess it means that you will have to go to jail."

"But I've got 13 mules at Santa Monica that need to be fed and watered," Pat pleaded. The court softened, so O'Neal was home today caring for his mules, while July 15 is the date fixed for the payment of the fine.

When arrested, O'Neal was not exactly master of himself, as attested by the following caustic notation which appeared on the police report filed by the arresting officer.

"Can't fill out the rest of blank; man is too full."

MUNICIPAL PARK SITE AVAILABLE

Andrews said. "The grounds at Frances Willard are too small and it probably will be a matter of only two or three years before a change will have to be made."

Wants General Demand
As to the attitude the city council would take on submitting a bond issue for the purchase of the tract, John Tubbs, mayor, said that he did not know what the other members of the council would do, but he was definite in his statement that, so far as he is concerned, there would have to be a general demand by citizens before he would vote to call an election.

"I do not believe the council would take the initiative and call an election," Tubbs said. "If there is a real demand on the part of the voters for submission of the proposition, we undoubtedly would take favorable action."

Frank C. Pope, chairman of the parks and playgrounds committee of the chamber of commerce, today declared that Santa Ana is lagging behind other progressive towns in providing recreation centers.

"The Ford place is ideally situated for a park and Santa Ana authorities should lose no time in acquiring it as soon as it becomes available at a definite figure," Pope said.

Committee in Conference
Pope revealed that his committee already had held several conferences in the last two weeks for discussion of projects for developing parks for the city. The committee is composed, besides Pope, of F. C. Blauer, L. L. Archibald, C. E. Prior, W. L. Duggan, Justus Birtcher and Guy Gilbert. They are making investigations of the costs and method of operation of other parks in the Southland, with a view to developing a Santa Ana park on the lines of the city park in Anaheim. The first four men named on the committee constitute a special committee for investigations. Yesterday the special committee visited the Anaheim park and later will make personal investigation of other parks.

"We already have several sites under consideration, but the Ford tract easily is the best," Pope said.

Youth Confesses To Slaying Girl
CHICAGO, July 10.—Raymond Costello, a youth scarcely over 20, confessed today that he attacked and finally murdered pretty Madeline White, 17. The girl's body was found early today under a porch a block from her home. Police, in announcing Costello's confession, declared they expected to gain a similar admission from Andrew Brick, who was with Costello last night.

40 Are Indicted for Rum Running

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Confessions declared by investigators to involve "higher ups," and secret indictments by the federal grand jury of 40 persons connected with rum running, were today's developments in California's new bootleg war. Monterey county authorities said they had confessions which would enable the government to round up the chief offenders.

ELDER SCOPE'S IS INTRODUCED TO W. J. BRYAN

DAYTON, Tenn., July 10.—The only difference between Thomas Scopes, father, and John Scopes, son and defendant in the Tennessee evolution case, is 42 years. They resemble each other in looks and they act and think alike.

The elder Scopes has arrived to witness the trial of his boy.

"Your son is certainly a chip off the old block," somebody remarked to the elder Scopes, when he landed in Dayton from Paducah, Ky.

"Yes," he answered, "I guess what he's got is all natural. We're both bull-headed and trying to find the truth. I've been teaching evolution all my life and the only reason I haven't been arrested is because I don't live in a state that has an evolution law."

Between sips at a soda, Scopes told those about him what he thought of Bryan's views on religion.

"Father," interrupted the son, pulling at his arm, "I want you to meet Mr. Bryan."

The father turned around and saw standing in front of him with a white tropical helmet on, William Jennings Bryan. They shook hands.

With the hands still clasped and not the least bit ruffled, the defendant's father said:

"As I was saying, Mr. Bryan, I indorsed every word of what you said at my son's commencement exercises, but I don't agree with you now."

Bryan, barely smiling, replied:

"Perhaps you're biased."

BALBOA SHELL COLLECTOR HAS LARGE DISPLAY

Thousands of shells of denizens of the sea in Orange county waters are in the extensive individual collection of F. R. Aldridge, of Bay Island, Balboa.

As a hobby during the last three years, Aldridge has collected and classified sea life until he has one of the most complete displays in this section.

Low tide offers the most favorable time to make forays. It is then that Aldridge goes along the sands and in the mud flats looking for beds of clams and other interesting life.

Has Secret Process.

At his residence on Bay Island, the collector has a workshop where he preserves and mounts his specimens. By a secret process, discovered after a year of investigation, the natural color of the starfish and other shell fish is preserved.

This process is believed to be the only one that has been perfected for retaining the original color. Aldridge has applied in Washington for a patent on the method.

One of the most unusual displays is the collection of olive shells. There are 15,000 of the beautiful shells, enough, it is estimated, to extend the length of city block.

Shells Are Polished.

In his workshop, Aldridge polishes the shells to show the various colors. Some of the most striking displays in the collection are the albicore. There are four kinds, all having been collected in Orange county.

The most prized shells are those of the albicore. Aldridge said this is because it is in this section that the best specimens with the most beautifully colored shells are found.

Many persons visit the display daily. A welcome is extended to any who wish to see the collection. Students of sea life especially show interest in the specimens, Aldridge declared.

Has Foreign Shells.

Besides Orange county sea life, a few foreign shells are in the display. These have not the interest of the local sea life for the collector.

In making forays for collecting, Aldridge has the assistance of Mrs. Olive J. Aldridge and Mrs. E. Hixson, who are equally as engrossed in the study.

Among some of the most interesting specimens collected are a naticas, butterfly, sea pansies, coral, sea urchins, pectens, serpentine stars, chionas, cockles and bubble shells. Even stingray stingers are included in the collection.

Lemons Tighten Wrinkled Skin

Squeeze the juice of two lemons in a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well and you have the very mildest anti-wrinkle lotion to tighten relaxed skin, erase fine lines and eradicate crows-feet. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the skin at night. By morning the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Allen on the Fourth, wrinkles, tired lines and crows-feet are smoothed out, giving a more youthful contour to cheeks, chin, throat. It leaves the skin velvety soft, clear and fresh.

Beauty experts use this astringent lotion for enlarged pores, also to bleach and lighten sallow, tanned skin.

Mix this harmless lotion yourself since it acts best immediately after prepared.—adv.

Says Babes Born With Tails Are Evolution Proof

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—A baby with a tail six inches long was born here recently, Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, University of California, reveals.

The tail was complete, with muscles which enabled the infant to move it, he said. It was cut off by the attending surgeon.

"This happens on an average of every two years. I know several such cases," declared Dr. Alvarez. "It is only an additional proof of evolution."

"Children born with tails are not told of it, but it is true. Mothers do not want to have anyone say their children were born monkeys. Possibly—probably—these are people living today who have tails."

MANY EXPECTED TO ENROLL FOR P.-T. A. SESSION

From almost every section of the county, and from every association, the feeling toward coming to Santa Ana for the first Parent-Teacher Association institute ever held in the fourth district, scheduled for the first week in September, or immediately prior to the opening of schools, is one that indicates enthusiastic interest and a record attendance, according to officials of the district organization.

The holding of the institute marks a new departure of P. T. A. activities. Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, president of the fourth district organization, declared, and is intended to give the membership at large a better understanding of the work of the organization.

Mrs. Spangler to Speak

Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, president of the Santa Ana City federation, is in charge of the program, which, in addition to group conferences, will include general sessions, at which the assemblage will be addressed by special speakers.

Predicting excellent results from the institute, Mrs. Snow said that too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of this particular and new feature of association activities. Here is where the P. T. A. official, whether serving as an executive or as a member of a committee, receives instruction in the duties of her particular line of work. It is here where the individual thought specializes itself along the line of its own familiar business. Here, the executive added, is where that problem which has been bothering a member or worker, can be advanced for action and discussion, and which, after the institute is over, will give the individual a clearer analysis to take home.

Held Group Conferences

In addition to group conferences in administrative work, it was intimated that the proceedings of the institute will take cognizance of the different problems facing public education, including legislation, school administration, child welfare, health and sanitation, with particular reference to defective vision of school children, malnutrition and other causes tending to retard classroom work.

JUNIOR C. OF C. BODY OUTLINES CIVIC PROGRAM

A letter declaring that the junior chamber of commerce is eager to get behind worth while projects and requesting suggestions on the most important problem to take up for the betterment of the community, has been dispatched to the senior chamber of commerce and the various service clubs.

"It is our aim to work in co-operation with other organizations for the good of the city," said President Stanley Clem, today.

"What we want is to find out just what thing the people of Santa Ana desire most. When we learn that, we propose to devote our energies to the end that the project will be put over. We want suggestions from everyone interested in Santa Ana."

Contents of Letter

Following is the letter which has been sent to the various organizations:

"What would you have 350 live, young, aggressive Santa Ana men do that would completely sell Santa Ana to Santa Anans? We are overflowing with pep and energy, and a keen desire to see Santa Ana grow to a city of at least 50,000 persons within the next five years."

"It is the aim of the junior chamber of commerce to put over a very definite program in Santa Ana, a program that we hope will mean much to every citizen; but first, we want you to tell us what you think would be the most important thing for us to undertake first. In other words, we wish to take up one thing at a time and complete it before taking on anything else.

Appreciate Suggestions

"The junior chamber of commerce is back of every civic organization in Santa Ana, and we are at your service. A reply at your earliest convenience stating just what you would like to have us do first will be greatly appreciated."

The communication is signed by Bruce Switzer, secretary. Organizations or individuals with ideas for the improvement of the city are asked to communicate at once with the chamber, Postoffice Box 1042.

Criticize Action In Sending Fleet On Island Cruise

PORTLAND, Ore., July 10.—Recent action of the navy department in sending the fleet to the Hawaiian islands and Australia was criticized in a resolution adopted here by the International Christian Endeavor convention.

The resolution did not mention the Hawaiian maneuvers, but the reference was obvious. It criticized "naval maneuvers executed at such places and in such ways to awaken suspicion in the minds of other nations as to the peaceful intentions of the United States."

"It is nothing less than deplorable, if, while we speak sincere words of peace, as we really do, our naval and military activities should even appear to prove our insincerity."

Another resolution was passed which "heartily" commended President Coolidge for "refusing to sanction the use of Armistice day as 'Mobilization day.'"

The paper, however, endorsed the president's suggestion to "mobilize the patriotic sentiment and strength of our people on the Fourth of July."

LIONS' DRIVE TO AID BAND NETS $476 IN INITIAL WEEK

Each Member Responsible For Securing Subscriptions Totalling $25

BELIEVE EFFORT WILL BE SUCCESS

Novel Identification Program Held at Yesterday's Meeting of Organization

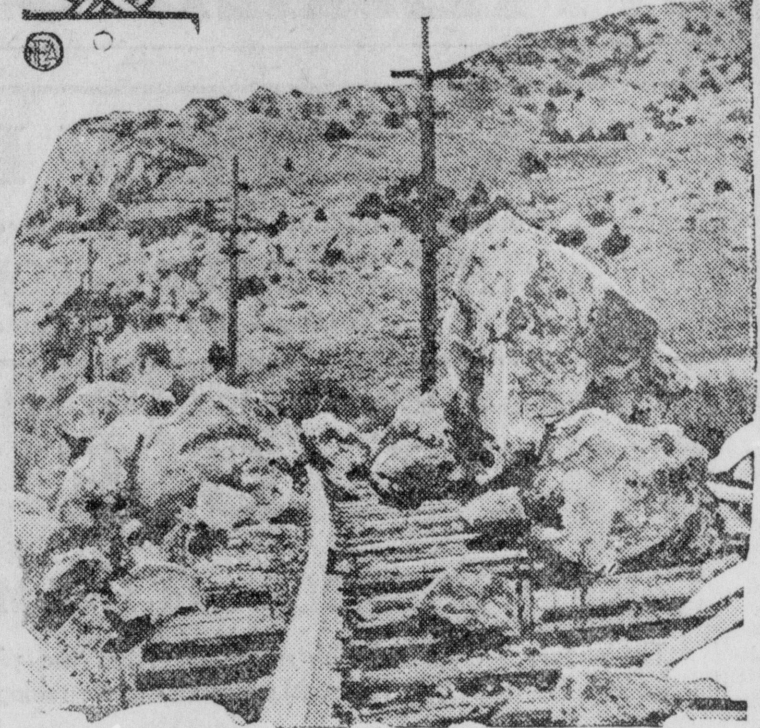

Captains of the various teams appointed to execute plans of the Lions club for holding each member responsible for securing subscriptions totalling $25 or more for the "Save the Band" fund, reported at the club meeting yesterday that sums aggregating $476 have been secured during the last week.

Capt. Warren Hillyard, as chairman of the ways and means committee of the club, gave a brief outline of the plan and named the committee chairman. Reports will be made at each meeting this month. A member may secure the $25 in $1 subscriptions or in larger amounts, it being pointed out that money is available for the band if proper effort is made.

Day of Identification
Yesterday was identification day with the club, scheduled for the purposes of acquainting new and old members with a brief individual history of each. Each member brought to the meeting something representing of his business classification and advertising literature was distributed without

NEED UNIFORM LAW FOR EYE EXAMINATIONS

Better School Lights Are Urged at National Session of U. S. Educators

Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer, today voiced his approval of recommendations submitted at the annual meeting of the National Education association, now being held in Indianapolis, urging measures for conserving eyesight of public school children.

Santa Ana is represented at the meeting by Principal H. G. Nelson, of the Julia A. Lathrop junior high school.

The recommendations, which coincide with those already made by Dr. Presson to the local school board, were submitted by a joint committee on health problems in education, and the American Medical association. The personnel of the committee included prominent educators and distinguished physicians.

Recommendations Made.
The committee recommended that:
As it is likely that teachers, nurses and other non-medical school examiners will make many of the eye inspections for some time to come, it is most desirable that the school personnel be carefully instructed in the best methods of conserving sight.

The eyes of all students should be examined yearly under the best possible conditions by the most skilled persons available.

There is need for a uniform model law for the examination of the eyes of school children in all states and cities of the United States; adequate powers and sufficient money should be made available for school boards to carry out such a law.

Handicaps School Work.
It was brought out that one child out of every 11 in the public schools is handicapped.

PREVENTORIUM AT TRABUCO IS IN OPERATION

Thirty Boys Being Cared For at Present; Girls to Attend Camp July 20

The Trabuco Preventorium is caring for nearly 30 boys at the present time, it was reported today by Miss Idabel Durgan, county nurse, who just returned from a visit to the camp. Both boys and girls are to have six weeks of treatment, the boys occupying the camp at the present time. According to Dr. V. G. Presson of the health department, the boys' camp will terminate about July 20.

A steady increase in appetite indicates the progress the youngsters are making on the road to health, Miss Durgan said. Upon their arrival, the children spurned the majority of things confronting them on the dining tables, but now they call for the second and third helpings, according to the nurse. Ball games and rest periods both have their place in the daily routine, under the supervision of Mrs. Amelia Meigher, the founder and director of the preventorium. Dr. Presson is camp physician and makes weekly visits to the camp to examine the children and to prevent them from participating too vigorously in sports.

No child having tuberculosis is allowed at the camp. Those who are there are undernourished or have other physical weaknesses which make them easy targets for tuberculosis. The camp is conducted officially by the Orange County Tuberculosis association, but the public health department gives all the aid it can. The finances are gained from the sale of Christmas seals, from county aid, and from subscriptions by civic organizations and individuals, according to Dr. Presson. He said the ultimate goal is to make the preventorium an all-year institution. This is impossible at the present time because of lack of money. The county this year contributed $1000.

The Ministerial Association of Santa Ana is sponsoring Sunday services at the camp. The services last Sunday were conducted by a group of young people from the First Methodist church of Santa Ana. Mrs. Theo. Winbiger in charge.

GET FIVE NUMBERS FOR CHAMBER MEET

Four high class musical numbers and an instructive talk are scheduled for the junior chamber of commerce Monday night. Bruce Switzer, secretary, declared today. Two of the numbers to appear here soon will start playing in "big time," he says.

Three of the four numbers are coming from Long Beach. They are the Arizona Singers, a quartet composed of Henry and Frank Cantor, Clifton Spencer, William Parkinson, Eric Green, banjoist; and Eleanor Neshien, pianist, a graduate of the Conservatory of Music, of Fargo, N. D.

E. C. Richardson, who will entertain with his musical saw, resides in Santa Ana.

According to Switzer, the Arizona Singers and Miss Neshien are planning to start soon on vaudeville tours. Miss Neshien is a cousin of Ed Holmes Jr., of this city. She is visiting in Long Beach.

Theo. Winbiger, local undertaker, who recently returned from a trip around the world, will be the principal speaker.

The committee in charge of Monday's meeting consists of Ed Holmes Jr., chairman; Ted Cook, Dr. John Wehrley, Dr. Paul Taylor and E. C. Richardson.

DR. KERR STARTS FIGHT FOR APPEAL

Dr. Franklin E. Kerr, Garden Grove osteopath, has commenced his fight against sentence in federal prison. It was learned today. Convicted recently of sending poisoned candy through the mails to his estranged wife, Dr. Luella Kerr, of Fillmore, he filed notice of appeal yesterday with Federal Judge James, in Los Angeles.

His appeal, it is announced, has been tentatively set for hearing in the U. S. circuit court of appeals on August 8.

Following his conviction, Dr. Kerr was sentenced by Judge James to serve five years in Leavenworth. His attorney, H. L. Dickson, filed the notice of appeal on Dr. Kerr's behalf.

TOWN HAS TWO MAYORS SINCE EDITOR IS SLAIN

KELSO, Wn., July 10.—This town has a population of 8000 citizens and two mayors. It is a river port, handling goods of all description, not excluding booze.

A quiet village to look at. But to live in, right now, it's not quiet at all. Threats of murder. Detectives. Mysterious persons. And the two mayors—

One day Thomas Dovere, editor of the Cowitt County Weekly News told somebody that he planned to publish an expose of the booze traffic through Kelso.

Two hours later Dovere was found murdered, shot down in the street.

News of his murder reached A. Ruric Todd, who had left the town when the people had removed him from the mayor's chair on charges of graft. Todd hurriedly returned to Kelso with the avowed purpose of avenging the death of Dovere, his close friend.

The first thing he did was to set himself up as "mayor."

Nat Smith, who was elected in his place, rules the city hall and supposedly the town; but Todd whose offices are in an apartment, claims he is rightful mayor and that he's running the town. He has appointed officers from treasurer down to dog catcher and intimates that he'll use force if it's necessary to win recognition as mayor.

In the meantime detectives have found $75,000 worth of booze abandoned on a barge; and they have traced a $200,000 shipment over which Dovere is supposed to have been slain.

NEW TYPE CHECK ARTIST WHO WROTE IN TRILLIONS AND DECILLIONS IN JAIL

Reposing in the safety deposit vaults the county jail is a stack of checks which aggregates an amount far greater than the combined fortunes of all the millionaires of the United States.

The checks bear famous names. Those of John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie and Thomas W. Lawson being prominent among those made out for the larger amounts.

The ciphers run into the trillions and the decillions. A decillion, by the way, is indicated by 33 zeros.

Behind the bars is the man who made out the checks. He is being held for observation as to his sanity. He was picked up by city police last night after his strange behavior had attracted officers' attention.

Some of the checks are made out in regular form. It is only the stupendous sums that are denied that make them all noteworthy. Perhaps there is an extra flourish to some of the "signatures." Quite natural, too. Who would not feel like putting a twirl to a check for a couple of trillions, for instance? There is a big stack of these.

But the check writer far surpassed this effort in another series. He took the whole of the face of the check to write on these. He apparently had never heard of a decillion, spelling the word with a "w" instead of an "r." Here is a typical one of the batch: 988 trillion, 877 trillion, 985 billion, 988 million, $25 thousand—and 44 cents.

By way of relief from the strain on his imagination in writing large checks, he wrote a few for mere thousands, ranging all the way from $340,000—there are several of these—down to $1000. But $1000 was the least sum that he bothered about.

With the sheaves of checks were two pass books, one on a Whittier bank and a second on a Los Angeles financial institution. The former showed a balance of $24, the latter, $2.65.

LICENSE IDEA IN BUSINESS IS ANNOYANCE TO AMERICANS

Public of Country is Displeased with Petty Regulation System in Force

PERSONAL CONDUCT ALSO IS LIMITED

Motor Cars, Volstead Act And Radio Call for New Government Restrictions

By ARVID E. GILMONT
As freeborn, liberty-loving Americans it is only natural that we should subscribe to the political axiom that the least governed country is the best one. At least, we like to feel that way about it. In our resentment against anything that savors of despotism, tyranny, and too much paternalism in government, we proclaim our individual independence and point with pride to the inalienable rights contained in the Declaration of Independence and in the American constitution.

Agree With Britisher
Though, as a rule, we are rather satisfied with things American, including our form of government, we agree with the Englishman who says that the less he sees of his government, the better he likes it. Another saying that tickles our ears is that "all that an Englishman wants to see of his government is the policeman on the beat."

With the advent of the Volstead act, the motor car, nickelodeon, short skirts, and the single bob, we have come to realize, however, that we are not free to live as messily as we choose. We are confronted with restrictions on our personal conduct, with petty regulations of our personal affairs.

Many Licenses Needed
You must have a license to do this and that. In fact, between licenses, permits and taxes, the activities of the average citizen are pretty well regulated. Anyhow, you still can sleep without a license, provided you don't park yourself in a public place.

"Hey, guy, who give you a license to do that, huh?"

How many times have you heard that in your kid days when you made a few extra nickels at odd jobs, without ever having given it a thought?

But did you ever think, having grown to manhood and taken your place in the business life of the community, how many things you do need a license to do, or to have?

Right here in Santa Ana, the number of licenses on the books at the city hall is listed under 254 different classifications. On top of that there is a miscellaneous collection of "permits" for various purposes, be it for holding a prayer meeting on a street corner, or for delivering an address on evolution at the city park. Contributing their share to the aggregate are those permits issued by the city health officer, relating to sanitation.

Banking Houses Exempt
On the plea that they are paying direct tax to the state, all banking institutions and insurance companies are exempt from obtaining business licenses. Likewise bankers and insurance brokers are exempt from the provisions governing vocational tax. By some in an unguarded moment, newspapermen were classed with bankers and brokers, but why continue? To quote the immortal bard of Avon, "I find my tongue is too foolhardy."

Thrilling Rescue Made of Boy In Alligator's Jaws

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—Francis Earnest, 7, was saved from horrible death in the jaws of an enormous alligator in a dramatic rescue by his uncle John Earnest. The boy was feeding fish to the reptiles on his father's alligator farm on Mission road, when he slipped into the pool. A giant alligator locked its powerful jaws on the youngster's arm, and made for deep water as if intent on devouring the lad.

John Earnest hurdled the fence surrounding the pool, straddled the reptile and dug his hands into its eye-sockets, forcing the alligator to open its jaws.

The boy was taken to the hospital, where a physician treated his badly lacerated hand and arm. The injury will not prove fatal, the physician said.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS
WEST END—"California in '49," with Neva Gerber.
WALKER—Vaudeville and "Wildfire," with Aileen Pringle.
YOST—Vaudeville and "Old Home Week," with Thomas Meighan.

"CALIFORNIA IN '49" IS PICTURESQUE FILM

"California in '49," current attraction at the West End theater, is founded on the early days in California, which afforded the author and producers ample opportunities for the use of beautiful locations, costumes, and sets.

To watch the horsemanship of Ed. Cobb is a treat. Cobb ignores his stirrups in mounting, using a flying leap and landing with his horse in full action.

The acting of Neva Gerber is just what one would picture as that of the fiery young daughter whose father was being—as she thought, won away from her mother's memory. She gets over everything there is in the part and eclipses the splendid work she has done heretofore.

Ruth Royce appears at her best as the adventuress, while Wilbur McCaugh as the gentlemanly scoundrel, is equally good, speaking paradoxically.

THOMAS MEIGHAN'S LATEST FILM AT YOST.

A homespun comedy-romance, cleverly acted, skillfully directed and with the added advantage of a plot that is different, "Old Home Week," Thomas Meighan's latest picture, now showing at the Yost, is about as satisfying and entertaining a photoplay as the current season has produced.

Here is a picture that portrays the sunny side of Main Street and does it in such human and humorous fashion that the memory of it will linger long after other photoplays have been forgotten.

Although the star's performance is the outstanding feature, he is ably supported by an exceptional line-up of experienced players, headed by Lila Lee, who acquit themselves with considerable distinction.

"Old Home Week" boasts the authorship of George Ade, and if there is a writer in America today who knows the average small town and can write about it amusingly, sympathetically and understandingly, it is this famous Hoosier humorist, whose shrewd philosophy and homely quips have won for him an enviable reputation.

Wintersburg

WINTERSBURG, July 10.—W. F. Slater motored Sunday to the Trabuca Canyon open air camp and brought home his son, Homer Slater, who has spent three weeks at the camp and who was greatly benefited as a result.

Pete Curtis with his cousin, Mrs. Ella Watkins, and two children, motored to San Diego Friday evening and remained over until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Jordan and Miss Ramona Jordan, of Fullerton, father, mother and sister of Mrs. W. F. Slater, were entertained as guests over the Fourth and Sunday at the W. F. Slater home. Mr. Slater's brother-in-law, Thomas Clay, his wife and his daughter, Ruth Clay of San Gabriel, were also visitors at the Slater home on the Fourth.

Mrs. Gertie Morgan and four children of Whittier spent Tuesday with Mrs. Chris Nelson. On their return home they were accompanied by Lottie and Leona Nelson, who will be their guests until Sunday.

Mrs. M. J. Sisson, who has been staying with her sister, Mrs. Albert Steck, during her extended illness, has returned to her home at Colton. Mrs. Steck is now able to be up and about again.

Linnie, Lottie and Leona Nelson were members of a party including Mr. and Mrs. Charles Troop and family, Mrs. Allie Mitchell and three sons, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peavey and family of Huntington Beach, who camped out over the night of the Fourth in the Santa Ana canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Payne and family moved this week from the George McGirk house to one of the Raymond Beem houses on the Huntington Beach boulevard.

The July meeting of the Wintersburg Home Missionary society, which was scheduled for this week, was postponed until Wednesday, July 15. The meeting will be held at Anaheim Landing and will be a picnic affair with pot luck dinner at noon.

Mrs. Chris Nelson and family had as their houseguests from Friday night over Sunday, Mrs. Nelson's brother, Sam Curtis and family of Neuvo.

Mr. and Mrs. David Russell were hosts over Saturday night and Sunday to Los Angeles friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore. A picnic supper on the beach was a feature of the Fourth of July events enjoyed by the Russells and their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fox and family joined with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Overholzer and family of La Verne, Mr. and Mrs. George Wardwell and family of Huntington Beach, Mrs. H. K. Hoff of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lewis of Huntington Beach, in a picnic party on the beach near Newport, where the boys of the party had pitched camp for the holiday and the week-end.

Mrs. James Maddux left the first of the week for Stockton, where she will spend two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Clemens. Her husband and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maddux, will then join her and the party will go on a fishing trip to one of the mountain resorts.

RESORT BURNS.

lie schools of American cities and one child of every seven in the rural school districts in the United States have such seriously defective vision as to be handicapped in their school work.

Discussing existing legislation on the subject, it was pointed out that in only 17 states is examination of the eyes of school children compulsory, and that in 14 other states it is merely permissive.

Commenting on the revelations made at the Indianapolis meeting,

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, said that these reflected existing conditions. He added, however, that efforts have been made to improve lighting conditions in all school buildings in the county, and that this phase of construction is given particular attention in planning new structures.

He also favored examination of the eyes of school children at such times as may be found convenient, provided that such examination is desired by the parents.

DAILY PAPER FOR BLIND
TOKIO, July 10.—The blind men of Tokio are planning to publish a daily newspaper by use of the Braille printing equipment. It is believed it will be the first daily paper for blind people in the world.

The ancient Egyptians cut and dressed stone as skillfully as it is done today.

AMERICANS ANNOYED BY LICENCE IDEA

Let's start at the top of the list. You must have a license to search titles, sell advertising, run a picture theater, or tell fortunes. In fact, you must be licensed to do anything that will make you a living without working for someone else.

Remember that if you put a "to rent" sign on your private automobile, hoping to make a few honest dollars, you must have a license.

License for Barbers
No wonder that the barber tries to sell you everything on the bill of fare for he, too, must have a license.

If you run a bowling alley, billiard hall, dance hall, or promote a friendly bout, be sure to have the old pasteboard displayed in a conspicuous place to avoid trouble with the police.

Dancing teachers, teaching you the latest rage, just now, the fleahop, must contribute to the city coffers. Private sleuths, specializing in confidential investigations and domestic difficulties, also are required to part with a small percentage of their hard-earned money.

High powered real estate salesmen, who would sell you a lot in heaven, on the installment plan, first payment down, also are among those called to contribute to the upkeep of the city government.

License to Run Auto
To own a car, you must have a license, and to drive it you must have a special permit. Before you are allowed to sail the seas of matrimony with additional cargo, you must have a license.

Suddenly you have a longing to take in the sights of "gay Paree" or try your luck at Monte Carlo. Or may be you want to tour the Orient and say hello to "good old Manila." But before you can make your travel arrangements, you must have a permit from the collector of internal revenue, which is evidence that you have paid your income tax.

Taken as a whole, is there anything that you can do without a permit or license? You'd better find out.

KINDNESS REWARDED
POTTERING, Conn., July 10.—Mrs. Silvestra Amason always threw the boys' baseballs back when they came in her yard. So the boys recently took up a collection and bought her a box of candy.

England, Japan and Java are the most densely populated large islands in the world.

STORKS will live ONLY in REPUBLICS

—Or so people used to think in the 16th century.

This is the 20th century. But we are still superstitious; for example, when we pay fancy prices for eastern lubricants in spite of the fact that the best crudes so far discovered for the manufacture of a motor oil are obtained from wells on the Pacific Coast.

Experience explodes the anti-western oil superstition

Zerolene actually lubricates better—and because it does it lubricates more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made—low and high priced cars alike. The most advanced refining process is this Company's patented high-vacuum process, during the use of which Zerolene is submitted to 15 positive checks for quality. Zerolene's special filtration through 40 tons of Florida Fuller's Earth gives you an oil that's absolutely pure.

Burial Notices Always Carried Throughout City

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 10.—The old Spanish custom of having a funeral announcement carried through the streets on a silver salver still exists in Tallahassee, and nowhere else in the United States. A carefully engrossed announcement of the place and date of the funeral and burial is attached to a broad silver tray by bands of black silk ribbon. A dignified negro then bears it through the business district with a mien in keeping with the solemnity of his duty. He presents it ceremoniously to all who care to read. Later he carries the tray to the homes of friends of the dead person.

RUM RUNNER OF FAME TALKS TO NO REPORTERS

LONDON, July 10.—Lt. Col. Sir Broderick Hartwell, Bart., best known to Americans of all the British rum runners through his extensive advertising for capital for his ventures, occupies quarters in London past which thousands of Americans go daily without realizing that but a few feet from them sits the man who has satisfied more thirsty palates in America, since prohibition went into effect, than any other living Britisher.

For Sir Broderick's quarters are in the very heart of London on Haymarket, within a block of the American Express company's offices, headquarters for innumerable tourists.

"Yeoman House — Furnished Flat Service," is a sign that greets the tourist's eye as he travels down Haymarket from Piccadilly Circus, and in this building at 31 Haymarket, Sir Broderick maintains his headquarters. At the left of the entrance to the building is the office of the Air Union; on the right a retail sporting goods store. If you step inside you will look in vain for any placard bearing Sir Broderick's name. But at the end of a carpeted corridor whose rather handsome walls bear large steel engravings in one case depicting "The Death of Nelson," and in the other the meeting of Wellington and Blucher on the field of Waterloo, one finds a uniformed boy at a telephone switchboard.

Careful Inspection
He looks you over rather carefully, it seems.

"Sir Broderick Hartwell?"

Room 1, up the flight of stairs. I don't know whether you will find him in."

You pause and ask, "What is this building an office building or an apartment building?" and he answers, "Well, it is partly both."

Already one feels enshrouding one something of the air of secretiveness and mystery that surrounds the personality of Sir Broderick Hartwell himself. For while he has given the greatest frankness and publicity to his ventures in the field of beating the blockade of the American dry agents off New York harbor, his own personality has been kept veiled from the public through his keen aversion to interviews with the press.

More Caution
One short flight up and a few paces down a marble corridor brings one to a door marked "No. 1" in colored glass against an opaque glass pane. A push on an electric bell in the center of the door brings a slender, rather pretty girl to the threshold. The door is not opened much—perhaps a foot or two, and the girl looks at the visitor without smiling. Somewhat hostilely, one feels. Yes, Sir Broderick is in; but he will see no one without first knowing the nature of the visit.

It's nature is explained: Several million American thirsts have been slaked at one time or another through Sir Broderick's efforts in the two years or so he has been anchoring his ships off rum row; he has been much to the front in American newspapers through the adventures and occasional misadventures of his ships; he is looked upon there as a figure of some interest, and also some mystery; quite naturally there is an interest in the United States as to what he looked like and what some of his habits or idiosyncrasies might be.

Will See No One
The girl—she is his secretary, she has said—listens patiently but obviously disapprovingly. She shakes her head; it is no use, she says. Sir Broderick will not see one. No, she will not take in a message; it would be no use. He has told her firmly and often he will not be interviewed. So one remarks that there is an impression in America that Col. Hartwell is "hard-boiled"; that some people thought of him as a bit in the class of the pirates of old; perhaps he would wish to correct that impression.

For the first time the girl smiles broadly as though much amused at the suggestion; but what she says is: "Can't you understand? Sir Broderick positively, positively will not be interviewed. . . . No, he would not be interested in correcting any impression people may have. No!"

"What about his ship that is said to have been seized by rum pirates off New York?"

But the smile is gone now, and the door is almost closed.

Gets Description
"He will see no one," she says. "No, I will not tell you what he is like," and with that the door is closed and one finds oneself alone in the cheerless corridor.

But downstairs in the meantime there has been a change of switchboard operators and the new arrival, a boy in his early teens, is more communicative than either his predecessor or the secretary to England's rum runner de luxe.

"And sure, Sir Broderick's a regular feller," he says. "Look like a pirate? Naw, I should say not, just like a regular business man, that's what he does."

From Girlhood to Motherhood

Through all these periods of their existence thousands of women toil on, often suffering with backache, pains in side, headaches and nervousness, all telltale symptoms of some local derangement. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one great remedy that will overcome such ailments. All over America women are telling other women how this wonderful medicine has restored them to health and the joy of living. This accounts for the tremendous demand for this popular medicine for women.

Waiter Poses As Noble; Wins Wife and Big Fortune

NEW YORK, July 10.—Mrs. Constance Schack Gracie de Urbina, widow of Col. Archibald Gracie, who survived the Titanic disaster but died several months later, has dropped the last name and again is Mrs. Gracie.

She is divorced without the formality of the law, she says, from the young Chilean she secretly married 15 months ago and for whom she now has obtained a warrant charging grand larceny and forgery.

The informally divorced husband is missing, but Mrs. Gracie has hopes he will be found soon. Possibly he has gone back to what Mrs. Gracie says was his former vocation—dishwashing.

Mrs. Gracie was married to Humberto Aguilera de Urbina in April, 1924, but it was not until a year later her friends were informed of the marriage. They were surprised, but complimentary. Humberto was handsome and much younger than his wealthy wife. He was, he said, the scion of a Chilean house of wealth and distinction and had hopes of coming into a vast legacy.

He had been a clerk in the Chilean legation in Washington, it was reported, but the legation denied this. This was highly imaginary, Mrs. Gracie says she learned later.

He actually had been a dishwasher and waiter. Thus he had acquired his poise and manner.

Big Rice Fields In Siberia Are Found by Japan

TOKIO, July 10.—Japanese estimates from a recent investigation of the area available for rice growing in the three eastern provinces of Siberia, the Littoral, Amur and Baikal, indicate a total of approximately 24,800,000 acres. This is about four times the acreage devoted to rice cultivation in Japan, where 6,670,000 acres of paddy land support a farming population of 5,353,000 families.

One of the openings Japanese investors hope to find in Siberia is in these available rice lands, working them principally with Chinese labor. Siberia as a place of settlement of Japan's surplus population does not seem feasible, as the Russians would probably object vigorously to any colonization by a few million Japanese rice growers.

As a source of supply for food for Japan, however, these rice lands are regarded as in the realm of availability. At present they are idle.

Charges Theft Of Office Documents

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Official documents have been stolen from his office here, State Superintendent of Banks John F. Johnson charges.

He also declared, during course of a deposition he was giving in the Valley Bank of Fresno litigation, that he believed "a thief in the office" had intercepted mail addressed to him.

Johnson's deposition denies the conspiracy charged to him and to the Pacific Southwest bank, Los Angeles, and Bank of Italy, in sale of the Fresno bank.

Johnson said photostatic copies of letters brought up at the deposition could not be identified because he had not received them. Others, he said, were from letters that had been stolen from his office.

The "Flying Cloud"

which broke the coast to coast record in 1854

THEN to one port in clipper ships NOW to homes of 29 states

On April 20, 1854, Captain Cressy made history when his good ship, "THE FLYING CLOUD" completed the fastest voyage ever made around the Horn—making the coast to coast "dash" in eighty-nine and one-third days.

And this was four years after J. A. Folger & Company began supplying coffee to the new Pacific Empire. Then the green coffee came to one port (San Francisco) in clipper ships; was roasted at Folger's Pioneer Coffee Mill, and distributed by boat and on wagon trains within a small radius of San Francisco.

Today Folger's Coffee, Spices, Teas and Extracts are in demand in 29 states. The early settlers did not forget the folks back home. They liked Folger's Products, and their endorsement led to calls for Folger-marked packages from the East, North and South. So great, in fact, was the call, that a modern branch was established at Kansas City, Missouri, and Dallas, Texas, in addition to the repeated enlargement of the pioneer plant at San Francisco.

RESUME COUNTY BALL LOOP RACE SUNDAY

LOCAL SCHOOL BOYS TO MEET ON CINDERPATH

Sixth Graders to Clash In Five Events Tomorrow; Tennis Tourney Planned

Santa Ana school boys who will be in the sixth grade or under grades next semester will participate in a track meet at the city playgrounds tomorrow, according to announcement today by L. W. Archer, director of the playgrounds.

Five events will be held. These are the 50 yard dash, running high jump, running broad jump, standing broad jump and the basketball throw for distance.

Suitable prizes will be awarded the three high point boys, Archer said. The public is invited to the meet.

A singles elimination tennis tournament will be held on the city playgrounds tennis courts at the Frances E. Willard Junior high school on the afternoons of July 30 and 31. The tournament will be conducted in two divisions, one for the boys and one for the girls, and will be open to any boy or girl who is 15 years of age or younger. Registrations will be received at the playgrounds up to 5:30 p. m. July 29.

The tournament is being promoted by the Playground Director Archer and is sponsored by the Santa Ana Tennis club which is furnishing prizes for the winners. A merchandise order for a pair of tennis trousers will go to the winner of the boys singles, and the winner of the girls singles will receive an order for a pair of white tennis shoes.

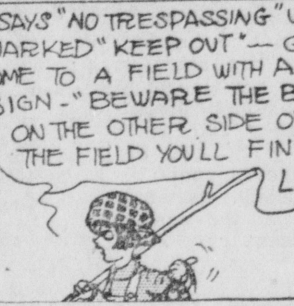

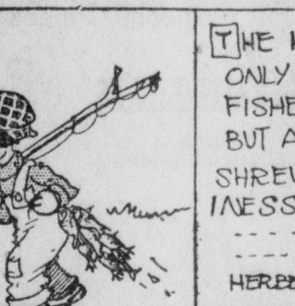

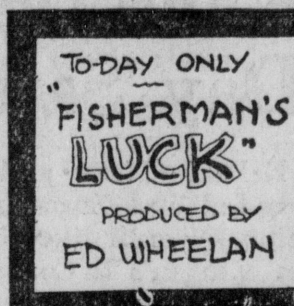

INDOOR LEAGUE MEN WILL MEET MONDAY

To discuss the advisability of spending a considerable sum for the improvement of the indoor baseball diamond at the Santa Ana high school, managers or team representatives from the 18 clubs in the Class A and Class B Santa Ana leagues will meet next Monday night, President Victor Walker announced today. The gathering will be held at the Walker sporting goods store, 205 West Fourth street, at 7 o'clock.

League boosters have advocated the installation of ten 1000-watt lights equipped with guards over the playing field and the grading and leveling of the infield and outfield. Whether the leagues will make this step probably will be decided at the meeting.

Two youthful baseball enthusiasts walked from Chicago to New York to see their favorite high school team in action. And yet they say Young America is no longer interested in the game.

Sunday's Games
Bowman-Preble Block vs. Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce at Legion park
Shields Paint Co. vs. Van Dien-Young Co. at Costa Mesa
Orange Moose vs. Santa Ana Woodmen of the World at Tustin
El Modena at Westminster
Tustin at Cypress.

The battle-cries of ten Orange County Summer League ball clubs will ring again Sunday afternoon when play is resumed in this fast amateur circuit. The race has but three more weeks to run and the teams appear so evenly matched that any of those in the first division have an even chance to slip through the lines to the title goal.

Tustin, its record unblemished for five weeks, has the edge on all the other contenders. The neighboring city men are leading the show by a full game and with such a fine pitching staff are going to be hard to dislodge. The league-leaders take to the road Sunday, meeting Cypress at Cypress. Merv La Rue and Beck Lanfranco probably will be the knoll foes.

The Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce squad and the Bowman-Preble Block, both local aggregations, collide at American Legion park here. There is considerable rivalry between these outfits and their engagement is expected to attract a capacity throng to the West Fifth street ball orchard.

Those dangerous Van Dien-Youngs, rated by more than one expert as the best balanced nine seeking the Spalding gonfalon, take on the Shields Painters at Costa Mesa. Just because they are in the basement doesn't mean that the Painters can't get tough so the Van Dien-Youngs will have to assemble their full strength to maintain their sensational pace.

Santa Ana Woodmen will occupy Tustin's park, hooking up with the Orange Moose, another club that is apt to do dire deeds at the most unexpected times.

El Modena will make its first road trip, journeying to Westminster for a gambol with the Beet-tors.

All contests are to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

LA BARBA MAY GET MATCH WITH VILLA

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—Pancho Villa, flyweight champion of the world and Fidel La Barba, former amateur bantamweight champ, will meet at Dick Donald's arena the latter part of August, according to a very reliable source. Villa's title will be involved.

Villa recently returned from the Philippines, which he calls home, and took on Jimmy McLarin a week ago. The champ was beaten, but not disgraced, and his manager Frank Churchill immediately cast about for his next opponent.

In selecting La Barba he shows his confidence in the wonderful Villa, because, according to the best informed sportsmen, Fidel is undoubtedly of championship calibre. La Barba's manager, George Blake, a famous referee and trainer of amateur boxers without peer, when asked if he didn't think La Barba was being asked to crack too hard a nut said, "Fidel's ready for anyone."

Errors by Katam and Hooper and a wild pitch by Lyons let in three runs in the eleventh inning and the Senators beat the White Sox, 8 to 2.

The Cleveland Indians went back into a wild place in the American league by beating the Athletics 13 to 11 in a seven inning game.

"Dutch" Leonard won his fifth consecutive game when he pitched the Tigers to a 5 to 2 victory over the Red Sox.

Bell's fine fielding and good pitching by Haines gave the Cards a 5 to 1 victory over the Braves and evened the series.

The Reds split a double header with the Phils at 8-3 and 2-1.

The Yanks were leading the Browns 8 to 2 when rain washed away the game in the fourth inning.

Washington Veteran Will Set Record If He Tops Loop Again

WALTER JOHNSON

Walter Johnson, with so many pitching records to his credit that he needs a traveling auditor to keep track of them, threatens to add another very important one to the long list.

Since the inception of the American league, no pitcher has ever achieved the distinction of leading that organization in games won more than twice.

This year, Johnson, one of the four pitchers who has twice topped the twirlers, is in a fair position to again show the way.

With 12 victories in his first 16 starts, Johnson has been the mainstay of the Washington pitching staff. If he can continue his consistent work he is certain to score 20 victories, possibly 25.

The great Rube Waddell, now dead, was the first pitcher to twice top the American league in pitching. His record was the best in 1902 and 1905.

It is the unusual for a star pitcher to have two big years in

RICKARD AFTER BOUT BETWEEN CHAMP, WILLS?

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, July 10.—Revival of the reports that Tex Rickard is negotiating for a heavyweight championship fight between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, to be held late this summer, was looked on today in boxing circles as "someone looking for publicity."

Rickard and Paddy Mullins, the silent manager of the negro challenger, had a talk yesterday, after which Mullins said, "I guess it will be all right."

Rickard said, "We agreed on terms," but he did not mention whether they agreed on the price of a car load of apples or a bulldog from the noted Mullins kennel.

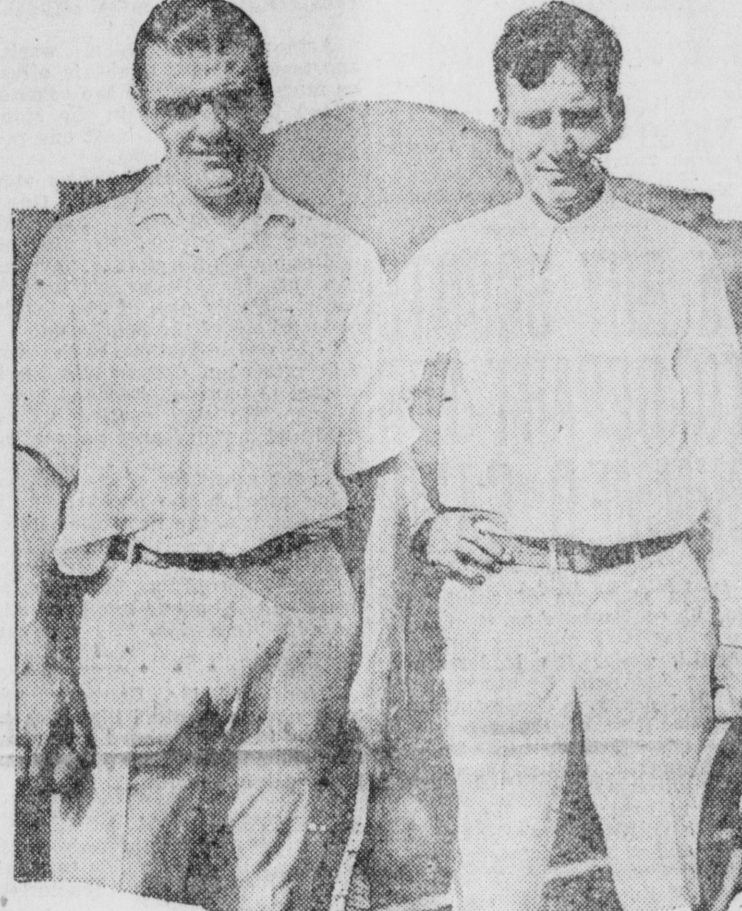

Some thought that Rickard made a move to warm rival promoters that he was first in line for the fight if the New York boxing commission should succeed in getting Dempsey to sign an agreement to accept the negro's challenge.

Humbert Fugazy, who made such a success of the recent Italian hospital fund card, has been hinting that he was going into the promotion business on a large scale and it is understood he has secured the boxing privilege for the Brooklyn baseball park, which has been the scene of several losing ventures.

Perhaps the world's only race-course for horses in a river-bed is that at Chungking, China, where the colony of 500 white residents has established such a course.

The track was laid out in the bed of the river because it offered the only stretch of land sufficiently level for the purpose. Racing is carried on continuously through the dry season. During the winter the course is under about 60 feet of water.

YOUTHFUL YANK COURT STARS SHOW WELL IN BIG TOURNNEY

These two young American tennis experts upheld the prestige of their country in the recent international tournament at Wimbledon, England. They were runners-up in the doubles and both were strong contestants in the singles. Casey hails from San Francisco while Hennessey registers from Indianapolis.

With $10,000 hung up as a bait, the Los Angeles promoters will probably have no difficulty in attracting a big field of star golfers for the open tournament to be held in the Southern California metropolis next winter.

Boston baseball fans do not have much to cheer about nowadays, but occasionally one or the other of the Hub teams shows a flash of brilliant playing that seems to hold out promise of better things to come.

KIWANIS CLUB AND P. O. WIN INDOOR TILTS

Tommy Hitt, the schoolboy phenomenon, turned in another one of his great games at Poly field last night and the Santa Ana Kiwanis club had but slight difficulty in humbling the Robertson-Chandlers, 5 to 0. Ed Daley, another high school boy, was the only batter to pick him for a safety and he was unable to negotiate the four-base route so Tommy got away with a shutout.

Earl Jones didn't heave such a bad game for the Robertson-Chandlers but his support was most wobbly and the Kiwanians touched him up three times when his meant runs. Five errors were made back of Jones.

The Kiwanis club tallied in the first frame, Hitt singling and being retired. Willie Rash brought in the winners' second counter in the second round and Hitt was responsible for the third one. Carl Schultz and Ray Miles made the circuit in the sixth stanza.

The "B" league curtain-raiser was garnered by the Post Office team, 6 to 2, from the Kinslow Machine shop. E. Berry, ridgeman for the Mail Carriers, was too tough for the Mechanics. He allowed only three hits while Holmes was rapped for eight.

Fullerton, the untested but much feared club of the "A" league, makes its bow to the public here tonight against the O. A. Halesys, one of the chief title seekers. Barry McPhee or Herb Salveson will pitch for the visitors while Horace Snow probably will toil for the Halesys. Tustin and Schluter's Maytags tangle in the "B" league eye-opener at 7 p. m.

Here's Greenleaf, Cue King, Who Will Play Here Tonight

RALPH GREENLEAF

The greatest pool shooter that ever picked up a cue—Ralph Greenleaf—will give an exhibition at the Valencia billiard parlors, 516 North Main street, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Near the end of a nation-wide barnstorming tour, the champion pocket billiard player of the world arrived here early this afternoon in time for an afternoon appearance.

Greenleaf holds all world records at the 14-1 rack game, both in tournament and exhibition play. His high run at this difficult game is 237 which he set at Stockton last year during a tour of the Pacific Coast. He has clicked off more than 200 balls of half a dozen occasions and rarely fails to record high runs wherever he plays.

He will meet a strong local player in a 150-point match tonight and then conclude his performance with an exhibition of trick and fancy shots at which he is the master of the masters.

KEELER, AMES CAPTURE DOUBLES PURSE

Roy Keeler and "Moose" Ames won the concluding round of the doubles elimination tournament at the A and B alleys last night, totaling 1423 pins for their four games. Ed Wagle and Eddie West were next in line with 1387. John Newcomer and L. R. Crawford grabbed third money with 1277. A big second game enabled Keeler and Ames to get far out in front and their opponents never were able to make up the ground. The scores:

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

While other managers are testifying to their faith in the possibilities of college baseball players, Miller Huggins, the manager of the New York Yankees, pops up with the opinion that he is off them. Although he needs young players more than any other manager in the major leagues, Huggins says it is almost impossible to get a player from the college diamond who can make the grade without minor league experience. Huggins has tried many of the most highly recommended college players and his opinion ought to be competent even if he has the reputation of having very little sympathy for a young player. "Most of these college baseball players," he says, "are stars around other sports. They are all-around athletes, playing football, basketball, baseball, hockey and other sports, and they don't get the peculiar muscular development required to play baseball. Baseball muscles are made at the age of 15 and they are made only after years of work."

The Yankees signed Charley Caldwell, the star pitcher of the Princeton varsity nine, but it is not likely that he will make good with the team, because Huggins may have made up his mind before the youngster got a chance. Caldwell was also a star football player and there is no doubt that football is nearer to his heart than baseball. It is probably a fact that most of the college athletes go into other sports only when they can't make the grade at football as the great ambition of any athletically inclined student is to make the varsity eleven. When you look over the list of college men in the major leagues you will find very few who made good without minor league experience. Huggins is right in this respect and the difficulty is that very few college players care to do a hitch in the bushes.

The victory of the great navy eight over Washington and Wisconsin in the Poughkeepsie inter-collegiate rowing championships was one of the few to the credit of the east in inter-collegiate competition. Even in this case the boast of the east can't be too noisy because the navy is more or less of a national institution although it is technically in eastern terrain. From the same broad geographical view the victory of the Notre Dame football team might be regarded as a defeat of the far west, but the middle west never will recognize an eastern banner streaming from the pole at an Indiana school. While the navy's victory was decided clearly in the rowing race it was not overwhelming. Most everyone who knows anything about rowing agreed that the navy and Washington were evenly matched and that the navy's victory was due to superior judgment of the navy coxswain who started his sprint for the wire just at the right time while Washington waited too long. The two crews were almost a match man for man; they were both well trained and well coached, but the navy's judgment was a little smarter—just a half length smarter. Eddy, the navy stroke, knew what he had to do at every inch of the four miles, and he did it perfectly. The Washington stroke knew that he had to run down the navy in the stretch but he didn't know when to start it and it was too late when he tried it. Dick Glendon, the young navy coach, sized it up very well when he said after the race—"We won today, Washington might win tomorrow."

succession. Chief Bender, now assisting Eddie Collins in handling the Chicago White Sox, proved an exception. The wily Indian is the only pitcher in the history of the American league to lead that organization twice in succession. Bender's big years were 1910 and 1911. Carl Mays was the third pitcher to enter the select quartet of stars. He was the leading twirler in 1917 and again in 1921. Last season Mays passed out of the American league but enjoyed a big campaign with Cincinnati in the National. There was a long wait between successes for Walter Johnson to twice top the American. Johnson registered his first triumph in 1913. He scored again in 1924 after a lapse of 11 years.

Fifteen members of scout troop No. 6, of Santa Ana, will leave early Saturday morning for Camp RoKILL, under the leadership of Acting Assistant Scoutmaster Ed. Murphy. The scouts will comprise one of the several Orange county groups to enter the second period of the camp this summer.

Scoutmaster J. H. Hughes will remain with the boys for the first two days of their sojourn. This troop, connected with the First Methodist church, of Santa Ana, has been together for seven years. It was one of those that received a silk flag from President Wilson during the war for its activity in the Liberty loan campaign. Other summer camps which it has maintained each summer have been located at Glen Ivy, Trabuco, and Santa Ana canyons.

Seek Release of Boy Arrested On Speeding Charge

FULLERTON, July 10.—Bill Swenson, who gave his age as 21 years, who said that he had no occupation, and no home, was arrested here on June 21 by Motorcycle Officer E. R. Rudy on a charge of reckless driving, after he was alleged to have driven a large truck through the dangerous Broad intersection at a high rate of speed. He was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail by City Recorder George Story, and began serving his time on June 22. Yesterday A. F. Wright, of 5857 South San Pedro street, Los Angeles, appeared at the local police station and informed Chief O. W. Wilson that the youth was his son, Melvin, and was but 17 years of age. Wright declared that the boy left his home some time ago to look for work in Imperial valley. Upon hearing the man's story, Recorder Story at once communicated with the Fullerton Board in Santa Ana in an effort to gain commutation of the sentence for time served.

Billy Evans Says

Thirteen has long been considered a hoodoo number. That goes strongly for the sports fraternity. Ball players regard the figure "13" with awe. To slip a player berth "13" in a Pullman would be sufficient excuse for him to sit up all evening.

The New York Yankees, however, have had no excuse this year to worry about the figure "13" relative to consecutive wins. The figure three has been a much greater mental hazard for them. With the season practically half over, to be exact in the first 70 games played, at no time have the Yankees been able to win three games in succession. On 12 occasions the Yanks have won two games in a row but not once have they been able to register their third straight victory.

Unless the jinx is soon broken the figure "3" will take its place with "13" as one of the hoodoo numbers in baseball by the Yanks.

PASSING OF COLLINS
When John Collins was granted his unconditional release by the Boston Red Sox to take the management of the Pittsfield team of the Eastern league, it marked the passing of one of the most popular players in the American league.

A corking good ball player, the possessor of a wonderful disposition and a true sense of sportsmanship, Collins was much admired. Players, managers, yes, umpires, were all strong for John Collins. Collins during all his career never made an uncalled for protest. When he believed the umpire erred and that was seldom, he made known his opinion in a manner that called for earnest consideration from the official.

Arthur Donnelly, a wealthy sportsman of St. Louis, is offered as much testimony to the contrary. When he is sitting in the stands the umpire know at least one person is pulling for them.

Mr. Donnelly also knows many of the leading ball players. One of the umpires desiring that John Collins should meet Mr. Donnelly and enjoy his hospitality, gave him one of Mr. Donnelly's business cards. He is one of the leading undertakers of the southwest.

That was in Detroit. In the game that afternoon Collins was hit by a pitched ball and knocked unconscious. He was carried off the field and it was feared he was badly hurt.

As the secretary of the club was going through the pockets of Collins' uniform, the first thing he encountered was a card reading: Arthur Donnelly, Undertaker. Then followed a business address and telephone number. Also an added notation, "Be sure and call him."

Friends of Mr. Donnelly who have always credited him with being on the job, regard the above incident as one of his best bits of looking into the future.

PROFESSIONAL BOXER
Even though in a grim business, Mr. Donnelly is still able to retain his sense of humor, characteristic of the Celtic race.

Recently he was called upon to place an advertisement in a program for a big athletic event in St. Louis. It wasn't the sort of advertising that Mr. Donnelly would have ordinarily selected. However, it was for a good cause and he took a full page in the program. The advertisement was a whole featured athletics. One dealing with the undertaking business was rather out of place.

In keeping with the spirit of the program, Mr. Donnelly's advertisement was merely a picture of himself and below his name appeared the two words, PROFESSIONAL BOXER.

Thought 3 Little Children Needed Mother's Care

"My stomach suffering was so severe that I could not have lasted much longer. I did not care so much for myself but did not want to leave my three little children who needed a mother's love and care. A cousin in California wrote me about Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and I took a course of it. I have since been entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

ABOLITION OF UNEQUAL TREATIES HOPE OF CHINA

Editor's Note — General Feng Yuh Siang, the "Christian general" of China and tremendous factor in her national life, has cabled the United Press an exclusive message from his Kailan headquarters—the first such statement he has made—advocating abolition of unequal treaties as the cure for the present Chinese unrest.

By FENG YUH SIANG
Written for the United Press.
(Copyright, 1925, by United Press)

KLINGAN, China, July 10.—Replying to your telegram, my considered opinion is that the grave crisis can only be settled by abolition of unequal treaties imposed upon China to meet conditions which have long ceased to exist.

If this measure of justice is conceded, all other international issues are easy of solution.

The main cause of unrest and disorder in China is the existence of a system of foreign imperialism, established on the basis of unequal treaties. This has put our country under British control and removed British and other foreign nationals from the jurisdiction of our national laws and courts of justice. And this system has created politically and economically cancerous centers in the foreign concessions at strategic points throughout the country.

No country can develop its commerce and industry unless it enjoys the elementary right of sovereignty, which is expressed in tariff autonomy, and no country can have peace as long as monarchists, criminals and traitors can conspire against the state from the safety of foreign-owned concessions and settlements, where also smuggling of arms and traffic in opium are prosperous enterprises.

The whole country is now seething with indignation. Nothing short of abolition of these unjust treaties will allay the feelings of the people. It is the consensus of our people that, as long as these treaties remain in force, incidents similar to those recently are bound to occur.

Hitherto, whenever legitimate demands were made by China, the powers invariably rejected them on the pretext that China was still in the throes of internal disturbance and that China had no strong responsible central government.

For the last 14 years they have stood in the way of our national emancipation and progress. Therefore the fundamental solution of the present crisis lies, first, in acceptance by the British authorities of the 18 demands by China for settlement of the specific incident at Shanghai and, secondly, the abolition of unequal treaties.

If wise, far-sighted statesmen of England will bravely come forward and cooperate with America in initiating abolition of the unequal treaties, not only will the feelings of our people be allayed, but Anglo-Chinese friendship again will be cemented, thus insuring peace in the far east.

(Signed) FENG YUH SIANG

LIBRARIANS BACK FROM STATE MEET

Interesting speakers and a hospitable chamber of commerce made the meeting of the librarians of California, held in Eureka last week, a most enjoyable one, according to Miss Margaret Livingston, county librarian, who returned to Santa Ana Thursday.

Miss Jeannette McFadden, city librarian, also attended. Dr. Tully C. Knowles, president of the College of the Pacific, Miss Mary Ahern, editor of "Public Libraries," Chicago, and Miss Ethel Cooper, of the headquarters office of the American Library association, were the main speakers. The relation of study and good reading to citizenship was emphasized by each.

The Eureka Chamber of Commerce and the Woman's club of that city sponsored a trip and picnic for the delegates in the "big tree" country approximately 40 miles south of Eureka. They were also guests of the Humboldt State Teachers' college. Many of the 200 California delegates went to Seattle to attend the national library meeting, which is being held there this week.

GRIGSBYS TO LEAVE SATURDAY FOR EAST

F. M. Grigsby, Civil war veteran, and his daughter, Miss Grace Grigsby, were completing plans today for departing Saturday on an extended visit in the east.

The first destination of the Santa Anans will be Orange, N. J., where they will visit a son and brother, who is employed in the government laboratory at New York. Following a sojourn of three weeks at Orange they will go to Chicago for a visit, and then will journey to various cities in northern Wisconsin. A second visit to Chicago will be followed by a stay in Peoria, Ill., where Mr. Grigsby was in the internal revenue service for 30 years.

The itinerary also includes a visit to Lewisville, Ill., where Mr. Grigsby was born, and Cuba, Ill., where he was in business for a number of years.

The travelers will return to Santa Ana in November, according to present plans.

MOTORIZE SHIPS.

Auto Driver Held For Manslaughter

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Liberal Lachell, aged 3, was dead here today and William Hutto faced charges of manslaughter and reckless driving for running him down in a street car safety station. The child was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Lachell, his parents who suffered severe injuries in the accident. Two other children escaped harm. Hutto told police his vision was obscured by fog.

ENGLAND OPENS NEW RESERVOIR OF LARGE SIZE

LONDON, July 10.—Burdened with a national debt running into nearly eight thousand million pounds—one-eighth of which is owed to America—Britain can still find resources wherewith to finance huge civil undertakings.

Following the construction of new arterial highways at a cost of many millions of pounds—the Great West road and the new main highway to South-end involved an expenditure of over two million—a new reservoir was opened recently at Littleton, near Staines, Middlesex, which, in its 11 years of building has caused an outlay of over 10 million dollars.

This mammoth lake, covering an area of 800 acres, has a capacity of 6750 million gallons—sufficient to float a fleet of battleships. It holds a supply of pure water sufficient to meet the needs of London's millions for one month.

Opened by King George, the new reservoir was named the "Queen Mary Reservoir," and it is larger than all the other Thames valley reservoirs put together. The embanking walls, 40 feet high, are four miles around. All the banking has a core of puddled clay carried down into the virgin London clay many feet below the bottom of the lake.

The reservoir is built with a "baffle bank"—or breakwater. Otherwise, in a high wind, when the lake is full, there would be a danger of a break and flooding the countryside.

Its readiness for use means an immense addition to the stock store of the Metropolitan Water board, which at the present time supplies on the average about 250,000,000 gallons of water per day, of which something like 150,000,000 gallons is taken from the Thames.

The quantity of water for which the water board is now responsible is sufficient to provide every inhabitant of the globe with one gallon a day for a week.

The new reservoir took three weeks to fill.

Estate Interest To Buy Gifts for Orphan Children

SANTA CRUZ, July 10.—An estate not to exceed $25,000 has been left in trust, the interest to be used for the purchase of presents for the children of the state orphan asylum in Nevada at Christmas time. It is in the will of Henry Wood, deceased.

Wood's will also names a number of beneficiaries to receive $10 each. The will also provides that the state of Nevada pay all funeral expenses.

Fez Too Hot for Sweating Turks

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 10.—At last after 2000 years the felt fez of the Turk is going into the discard.

Reason: Too much of a heat trap for tropical suns. Foreigners wandering the streets of Constantinople wilted in the blazing summer sun in spite of linen suits and pith helmets or panamas, and marveled at the perspiring fortitude of the Turk going his way with a rimless, sweaty fez perched on top of his cranium.

But all that is to be changed—and with the highest official sanction. Osman Lutfi Bey, president of the court of cassation in an official proclamation has just stated in effect:

"Moslems may henceforth wear whatever head-dress they find most to their taste or most hygienic. The sacred text of the prophet headgear other than the fez is declared unreasonable. The faithful may from now on wear any sort of hat that jolly well suits them."

To Transfer Many Kansas Convicts

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., July 10.—William I. Biddle, warden of the federal penitentiary here, has announced that due to crowded prison conditions, arrangements had been made, through the department of justice in Washington, to send 600 prisoners to the state penal institution at Huntsville, Tex., and to 14 prison farms in that state.

One hundred of the prisoners will be sent to Huntsville and the remainder distributed to the various prison farms.

Warden Biddle explained that no prisoners now at Leavenworth would be sent to Texas, but the consignments would be made up of new convicts, sentenced after the order went into effect.

At present the penitentiary here, with a capacity of 1400 prisoners, is caring for 3320 men.

FEEL NO REMORSE.
LONDON, July 10.—Deliberate murderers do not feel remorse after they commit their crimes, the Medical Press and Circular says.

JUDGMENT IS GIVEN AGAINST BALBOA MOTOR

Holding that the Balboa Motor company, of Fullerton had failed to fulfill its contract with H. O. Jones, Los Angeles oil operator, who invested $10,000 in stock of the company, Superior Judge R. Y. Williams yesterday gave Jones judgment for recovery of his $10,000.

Jones introduced evidence at the trial yesterday to show that the company had guaranteed to be producing cars within four months of the time he subscribed for stock.

Other testimony was produced to show that directors of the motor company who had arranged to advance funds for financing the exhibition of the Balboa car at the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, had instead sold their own stock to Jones and had used his money for financing the "premier."

Move to Replace Irish Shamrock Stirs New York

NEW YORK, July 10.—A movement is on foot to abolish the shamrock as Ireland's national emblem, and New York echoes with the rumblings of an oncoming struggle.

Recently the Celtic Fellowship, of which Emmet O'Reilly is president, addressed to Luther Burbank, noted horticulturist, a communication in which he was asked what a horticulturist might hope to produce from the shamrock. Could its diminutive blossom be transformed into a real and attractive flower?

"Mr. Burbank wishes me to say," replied his secretary, "that he worked on the shamrock some years ago to improve the appearance of it, but does not think any one would be able to make it give a bloom really worthy of the Celtic national flower. To be sure, this has been used for a long time, but as your country has changed why not change to a new flower which better represents your better country, say the Shasta daisy or the Iceland poppy, or some other flower?"

Stowaways Will Be Imprisoned

BERLIN, July 10.—Stowaways destined for American ports from German ports will hereafter get prison sentences up to two years. Because of the great difficulty liners have had with American bound stowaways, and the infliction of a fine of $1000 on companies by the U. S. government for every stowaway caught in America, it has become necessary for the German companies to insist on the imposition of a heavier penalty on passengers who sail without appearing on the passenger list.

BOBBED LOCKS NOT POPULAR WITH TEACHERS

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, July 10.—Popularity of bobbed hair received a staggering jolt when approximately 500 kindergarten teachers gathered here for the annual convention of the International kindergarten union.

Most of the delegates wore long tresses, and gave liberal reasons for adhering to the old-fashioned hair mode.

"I have no desire to look like a flapper," declared Miss Luella Moore, of Detroit. "Bobbed hair is the flapper's mark of distinction."

"It's all a matter of personal taste," said Miss Marion Fuller. "I am not the type that becomes bobbed hair, and therefore will never cut mine."

Mrs. Mary Wagner believes the long hair is more "becoming" to a school teacher, and gives her "dignity and authority" in the eyes of her pupils.

Mrs. Theresa Lake, pretty and bobbed, alone defended the flapper taste. "We are outnumbered five to one at this gathering, but I don't mind that," she said. "I bobbed my hair because I like it—it's modern and gives young women a youthful and refreshing appearance."

London Dislikes Two-Seater Cabs

WASHINGTON, July 10.—License authorities in London are blocking efforts of taxi companies to introduce two-seater cabs now in operation in Paris and other continental European cities, according to the department of commerce.

Scotland Yard refuses to issue permits for operation of the two-seater type of conveyance on the ground that existing traffic congestion will increase.

Scotland Yard statistics show there are 8043 taxicabs in use in London. Present owners of taxicabs through the Motor Cab Trade Protection society also are opposing efforts to introduce the two-seaters.

GOLF BALL WON'T HATCH

Prune Crop Moving To Active Market

South Carolina Neglecting Its Forest Wealth

having about 8,000,000 acres of potential forest land—land suitable for the production of timber. This area, however, is not being devoted to this end. Possibly 500,000 acres are in virgin timber, about four or five million acres in second growth, with the rest in cutover land which is not restocking itself to commercial species.

SEEK WAY TO PROLONG LIFE OF CURRENCY

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Radical changes in paper money of the United States probably will result from an intensive study being conducted by the bureau of efficiency, in co-operation with the treasury department, the bureau of engraving and printing and the bureau of standards. The changes which the study seeks are these:

1. Production of more durable and less easily counterfeited paper money.

2. Replacement of the present four types of paper bills by a single note.

3. The stimulation of use of bills of larger denominations, particularly $2 bills.

This survey results from an effort to save several million dollars each year in the production, circulation and cancellation of paper money and to economize by the production of fewer but better bills.

First Such Study in History An incentive for the survey, which is the first in history paper money has been studied from the fiber stage to the time of its cancellation, is the inability of the bureau of engraving and printing to meet any greater demands for printed dollars.

The bureau now is operating at its dollar-bill capacity, and unless some plan can be found to extend the lives of these bills and to create a greater use of larger bills, the present plan will have to be extended considerably, it has been shown.

Already the investigation has developed a dollar bill with greater wearing qualities than those now in circulation. Twelve ordinary silver certificates have been treated chemically after printing and have been found to stand more than three times the wear under which bills now in circulation can.

Investigating officials hope to develop a process whereby this durability can be put into the paper during its manufacture and even increased above its present efficiency.

More Paper Carried Now Since the world war the life of paper money has been curtailed from the year to seven months. This, coupled with the depreciation purchasing value of the dollar, which induces people to carry more money on their person than previously, has caused a great demand upon the bureau for paper bills.

At a producing cost of one and a half cent per bill, whether a one, two or five dollar note, the government is searching for some way to economize on the production and circulation of currency itself.

It is felt that if the bills can be made more durable their lives will be added to and the demand for new ones greatly diminished. This in itself will mean the saving of millions annually, but officials hope to go further and by more intricate or distinctive designs make successful counterfeiting more difficult.

There is considerable waste attached to the printing of four separate bank notes, and with the adoption of a single note in place of the federal Reserve National Bank of the United States notes and silver certificates, the printing and circulating costs can be diminished, investigating officials feel.

Push Two Dollar Note Another cause of concern is the failure of persons to use bills of large denominations and the peculiar superstition which attaches to the two dollar note. It costs the government the same to print any note, and if larger bills would be accepted more frequently there would be no need for such a great number of dollar bills.

Officials point out that a person making a purchase of less than a dollar will tender a five dollar note and demand four one dollar bills in change.

If $2 bills were accepted there would be only two notes subjected to wear instead of four, they point out. Only one-tenth of the $2 bills that should be in circulation are actually in use, and a nationwide educational campaign for their utilization is being considered.

Already several banks in this city have agreed to put these notes into circulation wherever possible.

Wide Changes in Prospect The broadest feature of the survey, however, is the study that is being made of the production of paper for money printing. Efforts are being made to develop a durable linen or a chemical treatment for the present linen that will add life to the bill. Moreover, thought is being given to the development of a system for the arrangement of fibers so that the greatest tensile strength of paper bills will be lengthwise rather than crosswise, as now.

Plans for the incorporation of other paper materials than linen, even with the result of a slight color developing in the paper, is being considered. Officials assert it is the most minute study of paper money ever made and probably will result in many drastic modifications.

Dancing Pastors Not Allowed Here MOUNT PLEASANT, N. J., July 10.—The community church here believes there are certain things a minister should do and certain others he should not do. Among the latter are:

First—Going to a dance with a woman not your wife.

Second—Using profanity.

Third—Being active in the Ku Klux Klan.

Certain members of the committee also believe their pastor, the Rev. W. H. W. Rees, did the above things. Therefore they notified him that eight ministers would meet and hear the charges against him.

"There are certain conventions which should be observed, especially by a minister," one of them said.

SERVICES HELD IN OLD CHAPEL AT FORT ROSS

SANTA ROSA, Calif., July 10.—For the first time in 84 years, services were held Sunday in the historic old Russian chapel, at Fort Ross, near here.

The services were held in connection with the placing of a marker on the chapel, relating its history and the achievements of the Russian adventurers who established the fort and built the chapel.

Sixty-five Russians from San Francisco, headed by the Very Rev. Father D. Sakovich and members of the choir of Trinity Russian cathedral, San Francisco, were in attendance. The services were held under the auspices of the Sonoma county Native Sons organization.

History of Edifice The chapel is one of the most interesting historic spots in California. It marks the only attempt by the Russians to claim territory in the area now included in the United States proper.

The church, a feature of the fort, was established in January, 1811, when a band of Russian fur traders led by Alexander Kuskoff, sailed into Bodega bay in search of fresh water, during a cruise along the coast and near the Farallones.

Realizing the trading possibilities of the country, and that Spain, which claimed the country from the Sierras to the sea and north to Puget sound, was in no position to repel an invasion, the Russian leader landed a force, built the fort and established the settlement, claiming the territory for the Russian crown. They called the country, now included in superior California, Rumiantzof.

Later a garrison under command of Count Tschetcheff, occupied the fort. Trading was carried on with the Indians and the Russians went through the form of paying the natives for the land with gifts.

Named Mount Helena Excursions of an exploratory nature were made into the interior, although the Russian's greatest efforts were centered on the sea otter and seal fishing industry. A copper tablet on the top of Mount Helena placed there by the Russians indicates that the spot was visited by Princess Helena, wife of Count Rotschiff, and that the landing mark had been named after her.

The Russians turned to ship building and in a crude plant turned out a dozen or more schooners ranging from 160 to 200 tons, all of which found ready sale at Yerba Buena, as San Francisco was known then.

The failure of the seal fishing along the coast led to discontentment in the Russian colony. On Dec. 13, 1841, Gen. John Sutter signed a contract with the Russians agreeing to pay them $30,000 for their holdings in consideration of their evacuation of the territory.

Animals Climb In Chimney to Safety

LONDON, July 10.—Harried by hounds, a fox ran into a house at Petersfield, England. It was chased out. It then ran across the lawn into a greenhouse and vanished up the chimney. Efforts to smoke out the fox failed. Bricks were removed and when the fox was reached it was found that four live rabbits were with it in the chimney. The rabbits had apparently run up the chimney for refuge in the same way as the fox.

Russia Charges Polish Troops Raid, Burn Fort

PARIS, July 10.—The chancelleries of Europe are gravely alarmed by a communique from the official Soviet news agency, Rosta, about an incident on the Russo-Polish frontier.

The Soviet government claims the Polish officers gave the Soviet military post five minutes to deliver a Polish deserter on June 28, and upon its refusal a Polish force of 120 infantry and 20 cavalry crossed the frontier, burned the Soviet post, and wounded the Soviet commander.

Two days later a Polish force is alleged again to have crossed the frontier and opened fire on the Soviet post. It was feared that the Soviets might use this as a pretext to menace Poland.

Swindler Starts 8-Year Sentence

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 10.—W. B. Spencer, last of the gang of swindlers that fleeced J. Frank Norfleet, Texas rancher, out of $45,000 six years ago, has left for Huntsville, Tex., to start serving an eight-year sentence for his part in the muling of Norfleet. Federal Judge Kimbrough Stone denied Spencer a writ of habeas corpus. He was recently released from Leavenworth prison, where he had served a term for violating the narcotic act.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

DEFER ACTION ON CALLING OF BOND ELECTION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 10.—A resolution providing for the calling of a $300,000 bond election for building a new high school will not be passed by the school trustees next week. The trustees met at the high school yesterday to pass the resolution but deferred the matter one week to investigate matters relating to the assessed valuation of the school district.

Thomas Berry, consulting engineer for the school board, is working on plans and specifications for the new building. Berry describes the preliminary plans, approved by the school board, as being of a combined architecture which he believes will come to be known as a California type. The building will include both the Spanish and Italian type of architecture.

Berry is also preparing a pamphlet containing full data and information about the building which is proposed by the high school board. This booklet will be distributed to the voters of the community before the election. The school board is proceeding cautiously in the matter to avoid mistakes.

After the passage of the resolution providing for the calling of a bond election, more than 30 days will lapse before the matter will come up again, it is pointed out. The school board plans to have the school ready for use in 1926. The present school is old and facilities for teaching are not of the latest type in the old building. Local people have been clamoring for a new school for the past year.

Trustees at the high school were being commended by voters in the district for the preparations which have been made for the building of a new school. By careful procedure the school board has been enabled to maintain a fund of more than $100,000 which will be used on the school. The plan will cost $400,000, according to preliminary estimates.

Much Gold Leaf Used In Sign; Patent Sought

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 10.—A new sign containing more than $100 in gold leaf has been erected by the O. B. Drug company here. Leonard Oharr, proprietor of the store, designed the sign.

The pattern is unique in that the letters are raised from the surface of the background. The shadows formed by the sunlight and the raised letters give them the appearance of block letters. George Wardell, local sign painter, who did the work, has applied for a patent on the method.

MISSION SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 10.—Every detail of a real bull fight as it is done in Mexico and Spain is carried out in the mock bull fight, which is one of the features of "The Mission Pageant of San Juan Capistrano," being given every summer Sunday afternoon at the famous Orange county mission, according to Garnet Holme, pageant director of national parks, who wrote the "epic drama." Next Sunday has been designated as Long Beach day.

Of the battle, Holme said: "The Spanish bull fight which is represented at the pageant of San Juan has been carefully prepared under the guidance of Martita Belfort and Earl Schenck. 'Martita has lived in Mexico

ANAHEIM FOLK TO BROADCAST AT LONG BEACH

ANAHEIM, July 10.—A program featuring Anaheim artists is to be presented over radio KFOX, Long Beach, Saturday evening, July 11, between the hours of 9 and 10 p. m. it was announced today.

Frank Hardin, Anaheim business man, who has recently been appointed announcer for the Long Beach and is well known in radio and theatrical circles for his clever impersonations, was responsible for arranging the Anaheim special program.

The program planned for Saturday night will include baritone solos by Reginald Taylor, tenor solos by Roy Mendoza, a group of melodies by Mrs. Walter Ross and a whistling number by Miss Myrtle Winters, all prominent local entertainers. It is said that Rev. Thomas H. Walker, one of Anaheim's leading pastors, is expected to discuss Anaheim possibilities.

NEWPORT BEACH LEGION MEN TO BE H. B. GUESTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 10.—Legionnaires from the Newport Beach and Balboa post of the American Legion will be the guests of the Joseph Rodman post Monday night. The meeting will be held at the American Legion hall on Third street.

Jack Robertson, commander of the local post, is in charge of the program. Special entertainment features, including several numbers by Santa Ana people will be given. Many visitors from over Orange county are expected to make the meeting one of the largest of the year.

A special committee to assist the American Post of the American Legion in their plans for the Armistice Day program will probably be appointed at the Legion meeting Monday night by Robertson.

Complete Razing Old Landmark at Huntington Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 10.—Another old landmark here was gone today with the razing of the remaining half of the Ender bakery building. The building, a wooden affair, was one of the first structures to be built in Huntington Beach.

In the place of the old building there will rise a new fancy brick structure. The building is thoroughly conversant with all the intimate details and ritual which are so carefully carried out in the bull fight arena. The affair takes place in honor of the governor of California, who was visiting San Juan Capistrano at the time of the dedication of the splendid new church. It was a brilliant gathering and the Spanish people of California had made their way to the festivities.

The following are the bull fighters:

Matadores, John Landell, Robert Callis, bandleader, George Avila; picadores, Luis Fredell, Pedro Mezcala; bugler, Dominic Luc; espada, Angel Rios; the bull, Juanito Manriquez, Jose Soto; el presidente, Carlos Rios; the girl, Eustalia Soto; the old man, Jose Avila; the old lady, Mary McHenry.

The following are the names of the other San Juan Capistrano people who appear in the play, other than leading characters:

Spectators—Juanita Rios, Grace Combs, Margarita Sepulveda, Bertha Lobo, Beatriz Garcia, Estefana Miguella, Lorena Combs, Bernabe Doran, Constancia Lobo, Petra Doran, Fred Steffol, Henry Wilde, Pancho Forster, Elmer Cook, Pedro Andrade, Dan Lopez, Chester Lopez, Myron Gilbert, Aclano Avila, Miguel Aguilar.

MORE THAN 60 BOYS AND GIRLS JOIN NEW YACHT CLUB ORGANIZED AT BALBOA

BALBOA, July 10.—A spirited group of boys and girls are the members of the Balboa Island Yacht club. Recently the club was organized to encourage aquatic sports among the junior yachtsmen of the bay.

More than 60 young sportsmen are in the organization. An elaborate program of activities has been outlined for the summer months.

Meet Every Saturday
Weekly meetings of the members are held each Saturday evening in the clubhouse. Discussion at the meetings centers about problems of sailing with a study of types of yachts.

Do the youngsters know boat-ness? To doubt their "sea saltiness" is impertinence. Any of the members of the club can tell the difference between a sloop or a yawl or other types of boats. Even the adult boatmen often bow to the youngsters.

Many of the boys and girls have model boats and yachts of their own. Lively races are held among the members. Besides, the club members themselves hold swimming and rowing contests on the bay.

Many Members Are Girls
Almost half the club membership are girls. As enthusiastic interest is shown by the girls as the boys, in the election of officers, Miss Marie McSpadden was voted to a position on the staff as secretary.

Robert Griffin was elected commodore. Others with offices are Jack Crook, vice commodore, and Duncan Ester, rear commodore.

Joe Beck, vice commander of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, is the founder of the junior organization. The club voted him the distinction of being the first staff commodore. According to him, every member is keenly interested in boating and all water sports.

Numbers of the boys and girls are experienced seamen on large craft. Miss McSpadden, club secretary, is regular quartermaster of Beck's "Carollie" and has made several trips to Catalina Island.

Projects are being planned by the club to aid boating in the bay. Club members recently inaugurated a campaign to clean the shores of Balboa Island of sea weed. It is expected that the club will become permanently established with a program of activities each summer.

fronted building with strictly modern ovens and sanitary equipment. The building is being built without loss of time and work for the bakery. One half of the old building was torn down some time ago. When the half was completed the bakery was moved into it, and commenced operating. Now the remaining half of the building is being taken down, and the other half of the building will be added.

ICE TAX CASE TO BE TRIED IN CITY COURT

NEWPORT BEACH, July 10.—What may prove to be a test case of the ice tax ordinance will be brought before the courts here when Charles L. Hazard of Huntington Beach, appears before City Recorder Andrew Wilson Monday morning charged with selling ice without a license.

An attempt to break the tax levy as "class legislation" is seen in the case.

Considerable discussion has centered about the city ruling here. A petition signed by 25 citizens was presented before the board of trustees at the last meeting asking for the repeal of the ordinance.

Hazard was arrested while distributing ice in Newport Beach yesterday. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Monday at 10 o'clock.

REMARKABLE JOURNALISTIC CAREER

The Woodland Daily Democrat is, in many respects, a remarkable newspaper. Perhaps a more accurate and a more comprehensive statement would be, that the Editor of The Democrat is a remarkable man—a remarkable newspaper man. For the newspaper chiefly is remarkable in having an editor like Ed. E. Leak. After a full half century in the newspaper harness, Ed. Leak is still "editor and proprietor," still young enough to erect and equip a new building for The Democrat, and enter into that work with the spirit and enthusiasm of youth and the added advantage of ripe judgment and long experience.

The Democrat was established in 1877, and as Leak's newspaper career began in that year, it is probable that he founded the paper and has ever since guided its career and shaped its destiny. That in itself, if it be true, is sufficient to make both the paper and the editor remarkable.

But both paper and editor are remarkable for ability, courage and integrity. For half a century they have been signal exponents of the highest ideals of journalism and have exerted a beneficial influence throughout the state.

All California—and especially Central California, and Yolo County in particular,—is to be congratulated on having such a paper as The Democrat and such an editor and such a man as Ed. Leak to lead and shape public opinion in the interest of social welfare.

CAUTION AND SAFETY

It is still early summer, yet we have had more drownings along the Orange county coast than generally occur during an entire summer.

What's the reason?

Year by year the numbers crowding the shore from San Onofre to Seal Beach grow. Years ago, nearly all of those who went to our beaches were residents of the county familiar with the dangers of the surf. Today residents of the county are but a small proportion of those who visit the beaches; they are unfamiliar with or careless concerning the menace that lies in undertow and deep water.

It is a fact that nearly all of those who have been drowned along our shore during the past two or three years have been drowned in places that were known to be hazardous. At one beach is a stretch of shore that has brought numerous tragedies, yet, in spite of posted warnings, bathers still go into the surf at that point. The Newport bay entrance, which for more than fifty years has taken a toll of death, is still ventured upon in rough weather by men who ought to know better. Going into the entrance in a canoe is nearly always the height of folly, yet canoes are frequently taken through it.

Safety in relation to surf-bathing and boating is largely a question of caution. One's ability to take care of himself in the water may be over-estimated. Venturing too far into the surf or into dangerous places with a canoe or boat often proves disastrous.

Authorities of the county and of the communities along the coast ought to take every possible step to warn the public against danger. Most, if not all, of the known hazardous places are marked now, but if there are any such places unmarked signs should be posted at once. Further regulations concerning the use of the Newport bay entrance might prove advisable. It has been suggested that the use of a canoe in the entrance of the bay should be prohibited at all times.

LIFE FOR GUN-TOTING

A vigorous effort is being made in New York to fix life imprisonment as the penalty for all persons convicted of crime who used deadly weapons or had such weapons with them at the time of the offense. One of the leading sponsors of the measure is the Board of Trade and Transportation.

This would be severe, but on the whole would be just, because "no criminal set upon committing any crime or act of violence carries a weapon without being a potential murderer." It should tend to discourage both crimes and gun-toting.

Even this drastic proposal, however, ignores the main issue. Criminals carry "guns" because they can get them. Better than locking the criminal up for life after he has shot somebody would be making it impossible for him to get the pistol to shoot with. Sooner or later we shall get around to stopping this dangerous and unnecessary traffic in individual arms.

FEWER INFANT DEATHS

Belgium furnishes a striking example of the results that can be obtained by the establishment of child-welfare clinics and the general teaching of infant hygiene to the public. Belgium started such work during the World War.

Prior to that time Belgium's infant mortality rate was high. For the years 1901-1905, it had been 147.7 deaths for every 1000 births. By 1922 the rate had been cut down to 107. The Belgian Children's Bureau announces that the rate for 1923 was only 93.1 per 1000 births. It will undoubtedly be progressively lower in the next few years, for such work accumulates success as it dispels ignorance and indifference. Any community that institutes widespread health publicity can achieve prompt results. It has proven its worth in Santa Ana.

THE DAIRY DIET GROWS

Americans are eating more dairy products. Last year the average citizen consumed more butter, cheese and milk than ever before. The consumption is not yet really notable, compared with that of various other countries, Holland and Scandinavia, for example, but the tendency is important. We ate per capita 17 1/4 pounds of butter, 4.2 pounds of cheese and 14 pounds of condensed and evaporated milk. Against this may be set the meat consumption, which was 167 pounds per capita in 1923, and, though slowly decreasing, could not have been much less last year.

The big gain in dairy products is in the production and consumption of fresh milk. In this, hygiene and prohibition work together. It is a common thing in all cities of this country now to see workmen who used to drink beer with their noon lunch drink a bottle of milk instead. The use of milk in the home is greatly increased.

The horse may disappear, perhaps to be followed slowly by the cattle and sheep of the ranges, but the dairy cow is going to stay right with us.

Learning by Experience

Santa Barbara News.

City officials from other places have come to Santa Barbara to learn lessons from the earthquake. They know that from the weaknesses developed by the racking of Old Mother Earth, it is possible to make plans for different and better buildings.

Also, the forms of construction that have stood the test of the great shock have furnished proof of their stability and should be adopted for future construction.

In scores of instances, practically new buildings have been demolished while ancient structures have stood practically undamaged. In some cases the collapse of buildings was due to faulty construction, in others the wreck was caused by the adoption of a style of construction that could not be expected to withstand an earthquake.

Universally it was demonstrated by the shock that structures that were thoroughly well built in any class of construction withstood the shock fairly well even though the type of building was not of the best.

As in nearly everything else, where materials were starved or skimmed, the penalty was disaster.

Contractors and architects ought to learn some lessons from the events of the past few days that will be reflected in the new Santa Barbara which is soon to rise from the ruins of the old.

If it is worth while for other cities to send hundreds of miles to see what lessons they can learn from the Santa Barbara earthquake, it is surely advisable for this city itself to take stock of the experiences through which it has passed. Particularly is it necessary for those officials charged with the responsibility for the construction of public buildings to see to it that the blunders of the past shall not be repeated in the new construction made necessary by the earthquake.

Now is the time to learn this lesson and no detail of it should be lost.

Salvaging Rubber Tires

Long Beach Press-Telegram.

Much of the aluminum in use in this country is mined from the aluminum junk yard. Now it is proposed to supplement the rubber crop by utilizing the discarded tire. At least 40 per cent of the rubber in used tires is recoverable, according to the United States Department of Commerce. Of course that part of it which is worn out in contact with roads is gone forever. The 40 per cent will help not a little in fighting the British rubber monopoly.

California, the state which consumes the greatest number of motor vehicles and their tires, should be a dependable source of supply for used rubber as well as for aluminum.

California, however, is not content with salvaging its tires. It is endeavoring to find some means of rubber production or artificial supply to assist the greatly harassed industry. If the rubber tree itself cannot be commercially grown here, substitutes may be found under the experiments now being conducted under Federal auspices.

The big tire factories are combining their resources to establish rubber plantations in the Dutch East Indies, having gotten together a fund of a half-billion dollars for this purpose. The trouble here is that ten years must pass before a rubber tree is old enough for a worthwhile yield. In the meantime, unless other relief measures are found, Great Britain will fix the price, and fix it high enough to carry out the threat that American automobile owners will pay the British war debt to America.

This policy will influence a thorough investigation by United States interests of rubber possibilities in the West Indies, in Mexico and in Central America. In the end, this country will be producing its own rubber.

Treaty Signing Delayed

San Francisco Chronicle.

Withholding by France of assent to the Nine-Power treaty, signed three years ago at the Washington conference, makes the task of composing the present disturbances in China much more complicated than it would be if the agreements were in force.

Secretary of State Kellogg reminds the signatory powers that an international commission to stabilize conditions in the Far East and to promote intercourse between China and the powers was created by the Nine-Power treaty, but the suggestion is bluntly dismissed by the British Foreign office, Austen Chamberlain declaring that there can be no dealing with China until she has placed her house in order.

The British office might go further. Pending the ratification of the Nine-Power treaty by France the findings of the International Commission can be of no binding force.

The situation is not generally understood. Americans in China are pressing the Department of State to insist on the absolute observance of existing treaties. Further complications are injected by the absence of a strong central government in China with which the powers may deal.

There have been hints that France will be prevailed upon to ratify these treaties, now held up for three years. The activities of our Department of State indicate that a speedy ratification will be welcome, that the powers may proceed to clear up the disturbances in China.

Until France agrees, however, common action by the powers is surrounded by unusual diplomatic difficulties.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

DEFECTIVE HEARING

By far the largest number of cases in defective hearing result from the conditions brought about by inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose and pharynx. Adenoid in the nasopharynx is another chief cause. Especially is this true in the time of childhood and youth.

Parents are advised not to overlook that little ailment in their children. It may result from acute rhinitis, in which the ears are often affected and just as often wholly neglected. Other contributing causes are influenza, measles and typhoid fever, and such constitutional diseases as rheumatism, gout and syphilis.

Prevention is our only hope. The real tragedy comes when the local aural structures have yielded to these different influences, and have undergone distinct pathological changes. Then little or no help can avail. Ear drops, nasal douches, electric vibrations or even Yellow Mountain rattlesnake oil will not avail.

Here is where a health examination, twice a year or even once, could save a child from lifelong trouble.

The Party's Ruined Unless Its a Dud

The Graduate's Opportunity

By G. Harry Waite.

The towns and cities of our country produce nothing of such enduring value as the annual output of their schools. These graduates are like fresh troops thrown into the battle line. It is for them to carry forward the ideals for which the veterans stand.

They are expected to make good where many of their elders have failed. They are counted on to give their strength and enthusiasm to the advancement of those principles which will make this nation truly great.

It is hoped at least that the training they have received will fit them for personal success and will provide them with advantages which their fathers lacked.

These graduates face new opportunities. They are not likely to look back over their own past. Yet one important fact about the commencement season is that their one great opportunity is past.

If they have taken advantage of it they ought to be better equipped for the work that awaits them. If they have failed to make the most of the time at their command they are entering life under a handicap that nothing can remove.

There are many things that can be learned only in youth. Later in life it is impossible to go back and pick them up.

And if there is one lesson more than another that the boys and girls need to learn it is the importance of doing the day's work today. Getting by is easy. Yet the young people who fool their teachers are really fooling themselves.

Youth is the only time when it is possible to acquire the talent of clean thinking and honest dealing with yourself. That calls for courage.

If you have cultivated that kind of courage, whatever your standing or your difficulties, you have learned the most important lesson the schools can impart and you have every reason to go forward with confidence in your ability toward the harder tasks that the world has waiting for you.

Worth While Verse

THE FALLEN STAR

A star is gone! a star is gone!
There is a blank in Heaven;
One of the cherub choir has done
His airy course this even.

He sat upon the orb of fire
That hung for ages there,
And lent his music to the choir
That haunts the nightly air.

But when his thousand years are pass'd,
With a cherubic sigh
He vanish'd with his car at last,
For even cherubs die!

Hear how his angel brothers mourn—
The minstrels of the spheres—
Each chiming sadly in his turn
And dropping splendid tears.

The planetary sisters all
Join in the fatal song,
And weep this hapless brother's fall,
Who sang with them so long.

But deepest of the choral band
The Lunar Spirit sings,
And with a brass-according hand
Sweeps all her sullen strings.

From the deep chambers of the dome
Where sleepless Uriel lies,
His rude harmonic thunders come
Mingled with mighty sighs.

The thousand car-borne cherubim,
The wandering eleven,
All join to chant the dirge of him
Who fell just now from Heaven.
—George Darley (1795-1846.)

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Pope

Mrs. Hews came to see me this afternoon and they were talking about different subjects such as how hard it is to keep cooks without paying them more money, and all of a sudden Mrs. Hews started to caw without stopping, and I started to pat her on the back saying, Benny, run and get Mrs. Hews a glass of water, quickly now.

Hot or cold? I sed.
Any kind, cold, for goodness sakes hurry up, cant you see she's choking? ma sed.

And ma kepp on hitting her on the back, changing the pats into slaps, and I hurry up ran back to the kitchen for a glass of water and our cook Nora was back there looking in the oven and a gate smell was coming out, me saying, Well is it, Nora, cookies?

Ask me no questions and I'll tell you no lies, Nora sed. Being the kind of a disposition she has, and jest then somebody started to knock on the back gate and Nora went out to see who it was and I quick looked in the oven for curiosity sake, being cookies all right and proving wat a perfect sense of smell I have, and jest then Nora came back saying, I saw you shut that oven door, you mizzerible varmint, wat are you doing back heer anyhow?

Im getting a glass of water for Mrs. Hews, she's choking out there, I sed.

Well in the name of Sent Peter a body could be ded and berried alive by the time you get there, Nora sed, And she quick gave me a glass of water and a push and wen I got out in the hall I could heer Mrs. Hews still cawfing and ma still slapping her on the back and calling, Benny wat are you, havent you got that water yet?

DAILY POEM

Roll up your sleeves, man, and tuck in your tie. There's work in the yard to be done. Don't let it fret you, but step out and try. The work you must do can be fun.

Bushes need trimmin' and shrubs must be cut. 'Tis well that the work is begun. Winter has let things all get in a rut but, now, sap's beginnin' to run.

New grass is sproutin' in real summer green. Your lawn needs attention, no doubt. Nature is budding with interest that's keen. Come on, man, it's time you were out.

Sit in the sunlight and work while you sing. Give all your muscles a treat. Drink in the air that is brought on by spring, and make the old backyard look neat.

Take off the good clothes and put on the old. Out in the yard try your skill. You can soon make it—say, need you be told?—a beautiful place, if you will.

About Earthquakes

Contributed to the Register by L. L. Hill.

The Nebular Hypothesis is accepted by most scientists as the probable theory of the formation of the earth.

At least, it has the ring of a laws, earthquakes will continue sound theory, and constitutes the basis of the correct explanation, even though, as such, it is not. At all events, the theory that the earth was at one time a ball of fire, that its interior is still a molten mass, and that its outside or shell is the only part that is cold and solid, is probably unquestioned.

That the earth's crust was formed thousands of years ago is attested by the existence of fossil remains of various forms of life in such manner that further evidence would serve only to verify this significance. That the interior of the earth is slowly but unceasingly cooling and, according to the general law, is likewise contracting, there is little doubt.

Elementary compounds are being continually broken down and new chemical combinations likewise are being formed by and through the agency of intense heat. These processes create and cause a continuous unrest, and in conjunction with the law of contraction re-adjustments in position of the earth's makeup necessarily result. These chaotic actions and conditions operate and exist independent of and without affecting the earth's crust for certain lengths of time, and we, living on the exterior surface, are unmindful of the interior's actions, except when its forces are greater than this shell will withstand and what we call earthquakes result.

No part of the earth is immune from earthquakes, yet due to the fact that various sections of this crust differ in thickness and condition, they are, accordingly, not

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 11—THE CUCUMBER PATCH

The Soor-Old-Woman-Who-Lived-Under-the-Waterfall and the Twins, that three things would stop them from their way to Pixie Cave.

The first obstacle was the Pebble-Wall of the Bean-Shooter-Man. The second was the Mire-of-Mud where the Saddler and his wooden horse lived.

The third was the Cucumber Patch that belonged to the Pickle Woman.

The Twins passed the first two of these safely and came at last to the Cucumber Patch.

Here the cucumber vines grew so thick and so tall that it appeared to the children like a huge forest towering over their heads. There was a tiny path leading right through the vines, however, with cucumbers growing on either side as large as watermelons. Each cucumber was covered with sharp prickles that stood out like long thorns, and the children had to be very careful indeed, not to touch them as they passed.

Indeed, it was their magic shoes that made it possible for them to move at all. No person could ever in the world have made his way through such a place without magic.

At last they came to a house of burnt orange with a purple roof and a pink lean-to. The last kind of a house one would expect to find in a cucumber patch! But there it was looking as though all the painters in the world had dumped their paint-pots there.

On the porch an old woman was cutting cucumbers and counting the seeds.

"How do you do?" she said when she saw the children. "I've cut cucumbers since five this morning and I haven't found the red seed yet."

"What red seed?" asked Nick. "Oh, any red seed," said the woman. "I have every color in the
